Lack of Water Forces Italians Against Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — The Italian columns driving into British Somaliland from Ethiopia halted after their capture of Oadweina and Hargeisa "as anticipated," a British communiqué reported to-night.

Air reconnaissance over those towns in the western part of the protectorate "showed little movement," the communiqué said.

It reported continued movement of Italian forces, particularly "motorized transport," in the Libyan-Egyptian border region, "the western desert" where the British expect a large-scale Italian offensive shortly.

This offensive, predicted for mid-August, is linked to Italian fears of intensification of the British naval blockade and dwindling water and war supplies in Libya. It would be aimed at breaking Britain's stranglehold on the north African coast.

Practically all the water used by the Italians in eastern Libya has been transported from Italy, since Libya largely is a stretch of desert.

Italy's desperate desire to attempt to crack the British lines along the Egyptian frontier apparently is influenced largely by the vital necessity of keeping water and oil flowing in for her Libyan fighters.

A deep thrust into Egypt would open the way for new water supplies.

Local Singers Are Popular

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victoria actors and singers are playing a prominent part in the three-week season of the "theatre under the stars" here, according to officials in charge of the special open air performances at Stanley Park.

Leading parts were taken by theatrical performers from the island city in Tuesday night's opening attraction "The Gelsa" and Saturday's presentation of scenes from famous operas will find two Victoria girls in leading roles.

Musical director and guest conductor for the season is Basil Horst of Victoria.

A total of 9,000 people saw "The Gelsa" Tuesday, as the series opened. Taking leading roles were Sheila Conway, James A. McVie, David Oldham and Fraser Lister, all of Victoria.

In scenes from "Faust" and "Il Trovatore" on Saturday, Peggy Moore of Victoria will take the role of Leonora.

Tonight Shakespeare's "As You Like It" is to be given, and tomorrow "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is the attraction.

Writing in the Province, "R.J.", musical critic of that paper said: "For this performance of 'The Gelsa' it is gratifying to state that it reflected much credit on producers and performers."

"Mr. Lister was a first-rate Wun-Hi, and had the additional merit of making his pidgin English understandable. He should guard, however, against being unduly conspicuous when other characters are occupying the limelight. Miss Conway's 'Mimosa Sam' was noteworthy for its attractive singing."

CANADIANS WIN

DUBLIN (CP) — Four Canadians drew 50 ($22.50) cash prizes and two drew $25 prizes in the Irish Hospitals sweepstakes yesterday.

The draw is on an Irish race called the Phoenix Plate, valued at $15,000. No Canadians drew major prizes.

The winning Canadian tickets were: AQ08294, My Mother; BE16646 Sonjon; CK22970, I'm Next; BA02716, Old Sol. The $25 winners were: CK1396, Just Once; AL09482, Teepee.

The prize fund was divided into 30 units of $1,000 each. Drawers of the winning horse get $10,000 each; of the second, $5,000, and of the third, $3,000. Other horses get $79 each and there are several cash prizes.

Sixty-six horses participate in the draw. The race will be run on Phoenix Park August 10. The draw is continuing.

Britain Concedes India New Rights To Thwart Axis Expansion in East

LONDON (CP) — Britain today proposed a new policy to iron out difficulties with India.

The government declared willingness to let Indians themselves "devise the framework of a new constitution" at the conclusion of the war, in the hope India will attain "free and equal partnership" in the British Commonwealth of nations.

The government's position was outlined by the Marquess of Lifford, Viceroy, in India, and by L. C. M. S. Amery, Secretary of State for India, in the House of Commons. Mr. Amery yesterday had an audience with the King.

Simultaneously with Mr. Amery's statement, to the Commons, the Duke of Devonshire made a similar statement in the House of Lords.

To promote national unity in British India, representatives of the different political parties will be invited to join the Governor-General's executive council.

A war advisory committee will be established representative of all India's national life, including the Indian states.

While repeating the government's offer of dominion status for India's 350,000,000 people, the statement reiterated unwillingness to undertake "fundamental constitutional issues" in the midst of war.

Constitution Assembly Plan

The government gave its assent to the setting up, after the war, "with the least possible delay" of a body "representative of the principal elements in Indian national life in order to devise the framework of the new constitution."

The government promised "every aid in their power" in this task.

"India's anxiety at this moment of critical importance in the world struggle against tyranny and aggression to contribute fully to the common cause and to the triumph of our common ideals is manifest," the statement said.

"She has already made a mighty contribution. She is anxious to make a greater contribution still. His Majesty's government in Great Britain are concerned that that unity of national purpose in India which would enable her to do so should be achieved at as early a date as possible."

But while conceding that the constitution should be "primarily the responsibility of Indians themselves and should originate from Indian conceptions of the social, economic and political structure of Indian life," the government declared it could not disregard the "obligations which Great Britain's long connection with India has imposed on her."

The statement, recalling the government's offer last October of dominion status at the end of the war, said efforts to "attain some measure of agreement" between the political parties had failed.

Minorities' Rights Must Be Safeguarded

"It is clear that earlier differences which had prevented the achievement of national unity remain unbridged," the statement said. It declared the government's concern that "full weight should be given to the views of minorities" in any constitutional revision, and added:

"It goes without saying that they (the government) could not contemplate the transfer of their present responsibilities for the peace and welfare of India to any system of government whose authority is directly denied by large and powerful elements in India's national life."

Some Indian circles, notably the All-India National Congress Party, have been striving for independence. So far most of the demands have been for immediate steps, without waiting for the conclusion of the war, the Congress Party demanding a "constituent assembly" of Indians alone to decide how India should be governed.

Last April 18 the government rejected these wishes on the grounds that to grant them would mean disregarding undertakings to Muslims and the princes' states to maintain their status quo.

Great Forces Declared Available

By satisfying India's claims Britain would be in a position to marshal overwhelming forces to crush Italian expansion in the Mediterranean area, according to the British view.

With Japan threatening to expand southward and Italy seeking to rule over the Moslem world, India's interest in a British victory has become increasingly keener.

The Indian princes have been pouring gold into the British war effort. The Nawab of Hyderabad alone contributed $400,000 to buy airplanes. The fact that the princes are interested in perpetuating their thrones, however, complicates the constitutional question in any attempt to satisfy independence demands.

The princes rely on their old treaty rights to maintain their privileges. Mohandas K. Gandhi, however, retorts that "the princes cannot hold out against the millions who have become conscious of their power."

Gandhi, leader of the independence-seeking Nationalists, declared in a recent plea urging Britain to abandon war for "non-violence" that he did "not want Britain to be defeated, nor do I want her to be victorious in a trial of brute strength."

Realists See Menace of Axis

Realists in India, however, are prepared to go all out to help Britain thwart any German, Italian or Japanese ambitions on the ground that British rule is definitely preferable to what new conquerors might offer.

Indian troops in Egypt and Aden help guard the Red Sea, to ward which the Italians are driving. Indian soldiers form part of a defence system vital to the Singapore naval base, and India is an important source of supply for the British armies.

When Sir Hugh O'Neill, Under-Secretary for India, rejected the

Italians Drawn Far From Bases

British to Defend Somaliland Capital

LONDON (CP) — British military authorities predicted today that Berbera, principal port of British Somaliland, would be stoutly defended by forces holding the hills south of the city against Italian columns which already have penetrated deep into that British possession.

It was explained the British would let the Italians extend their lines still farther before real resistance was offered.

"It is not sound tactics for us to attempt to stop superior forces on a long frontier," these circles said. "It is far better to wait until the enemy is harassed by poor communications and is far from his base."

Military authorities here said the hills south of Berbera were "natural lines of defence," and neutral military circles were unanimous in the opinion that the first stiff British resistance would be encountered there.

Tough Road For Any Advance

Officers familiar with the terrain, however, said it would be interesting to see whether the Italian force of about two battalions which took Zeila would attempt to advance southeastward along the coastal plain to Berbera.

"If so, it will have extremely hard going over 150 miles of road very difficult for vehicles which can be attacked from the sea and from the land," these quarters said.

An expert on Somaliland said Berbera could hardly be called a port at all by civilized standards, since ships cannot come alongside, but have to lie off shore about a quarter of a mile. The only other "port" is Zeila, and only small boats can use it.

The burning hot monsoon which blows across the country with "almost clocklike" regularity from June 15 to September 15, reaches hurricane force and makes concentrated work almost impossible, he said.

This expert said Somaliland has practically no economic value, the principal export being sheepskins.

Italian Drive Seen as Diversion

CAIRO (AP) — The Italian push into British Somaliland, which resulted yesterday in the fall of the Port of Zeila, is looked upon here as more or less a move to divert British power to defence of that territory, preliminary to a big push by the Italian armies in Libya against Egypt.

Constant command reports the loss of one aircraft engaged on reconnaissance over the Norwegian coast yesterday.

An Air Ministry news service account of the attacks on Kiel said the British bombers were to get through from Italy to Libya.

Port in Libya Pounded By R.A.F.

CAIRO (AP) — The Royal Air Force issued the following communiqué today:

"There was considerable air activity on all fronts yesterday, many valuable reconnaissance flights being undertaken."

"At Bardia (in Italian Libya) the shipping harbor and store buildings were attacked. One large building was demolished."

While carrying out reconnaissance work in the Tobruk area August 6, one of our flying boats was shot down and one of the crew killed. The remainder, three of whom were wounded, were taken prisoner."

"The Italian east Africa submarine base at Massawa was raided by R.A.F. bombers August 6 and 7. Reports indicate direct hits were registered on a naval vessel, the quay and one submarine. All our aircraft returned safely."

"During another raid, buildings were damaged. All our aircraft returned safely."

"Enemy fighters approached Malta yesterday, but turned back before our fighters could engage them."

ITALIAN CLAIMS

ROME (AP) — Today's Italian communiqué:

"One of our columns which three days ago had crossed the frontier of British Somaliland reached the sea and occupied the port of Zeila."

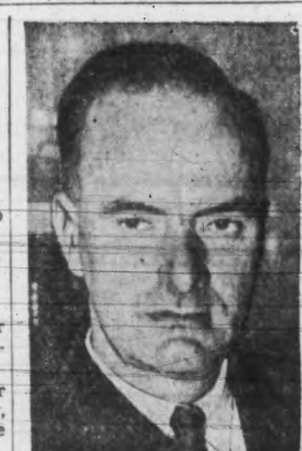

"In east Africa our bomber formations attacked the airfield of Walji, destroying three planes on the ground and causing serious damage and setting fire to works of the base. One British fighter plane was shot down in combat."

(There was no confirmation of these claims from British sources.)

"Enemy raids on Diredawa and Massawa caused unimportant damage."

"In the eastern Mediterranean a British squadron of five vessels escorted by warships was bombed by our aviation. Two vessels were hit and severely damaged."

(This claim is unconfirmed.)

DECORATED BY KING—Four months after he won the honor, Capt. John Short Pinkney, British merchant skipper, learned he had been awarded the O.B.E. for his action at Narvik. Without convoy, Capt. Pinkney successfully commanded a fleet of 40 merchant ships from the Norwegian port to England. He received the news in a cable from his "owners."

Ship Move Approved

NEW YORK—The New York Times today commends the United States House of Representatives for approving legislation permitting use of American ships in evacuating refugee children from Britain.

"The House has simply recognized and shared an overwhelming public desire to get the largest possible number of these children away from the dive bombers," it says editorially. "It is now for the Senate to act, and act promptly."

Bermuda's Government House Turned Over to Windsors

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Government House, an 18-room turreted mansion set amid a 45-acre park of lawns and cedar groves and built of native coral, was ready today for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

The Duke and Duchess occupy a suite of two bedrooms and baths on the south side of the house, opening on a verandah commanding a view of Hamilton. Both rooms, like the remainder of the house, are furnished simply and decorated in pastel shades.

FOR THE DUCHESS

The room occupied by the Duchess contains twin beds of ordinary white-painted iron with brass knobs as might be found in any summer seaside residence. In the room is an antique mahogany chifferoni, a dressing table and wardrobe and a flowered chintz chaise-longue matching the draperies of the French windows.

The Duke's aid occupies a quiet room next to his and the Duchess' personal maid has a room adjoining hers.

It is likely the governor, an enthusiastic yachtsman, may take the Duke sailing in his racing boat and golf with him. The Windsors will swim at the independence demands on April 18, he said:

"If it should appear that the Low Countries are invaded by Germany, then the East Indies would pass, technically under German control. It must be remembered that between Berlin and Tokyo exists an understanding, and India might find herself between two aggressors."

Since then Germany invaded the Low Countries and Japan has set out a course of southward expansion which possibly would place the East Indies under her domination.

Viceroy to Talk With Congress Head

BOMBAY (AP) — Congress Party president Maulana Abdul Kalan Axad said today he had been invited to an interview by the Viceroy, the Marquess of Lifford, and would have no comment until then on Britain's offer for a new constitution to be drafted by Indian leaders after the war. The interview is to be before August 20.

Other leaders of the independence movement likewise refused to comment.

Nationalist newspapers, however, said that, since the offer falls short of demands for immediate independence, the Congress Party is unlikely to consent to participation in the British Empire's war.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, Congress Party leader, said any statement from him would be a presumption, in view of his comparative retirement from public affairs.

BRENDA IN SEATTLE, MAY COME HERE

SEATTLE—Brenda Diana Duff Frazier, New York's No. 1 glamour girl in 1938, whose formal debut to society cost $23,500, and a granddaughter of Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the Canadian banking magnate, is in Seattle on a holiday and may take a trip to Victoria.

She was cold to reporters who met her at the station. She said she was having a lovely time, thank you, and didn't know how long she would stay. With Mr. and Mrs. George Blumenthal she went to the Olympic Hotel.

Her simple navy blue polka dot dress was belted in leather. On her head was a "beanie" and she wore no stockings. Girl reporters said she probably put her dark, shiny lipstick on with a brush.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE Inopportune Now

LONDON (CP) — Viscount Caldecote, Dominions secretary, told the House of Lords today the United Kingdom government considered the present time inopportune "for inviting Dominion ministers to London for an Imperial war conference or other discussion, but they (the government) will certainly welcome such discussions if an occasion offers."

He was replying to Lord Davies, who asked whether a supreme war council would be created, including representatives of the British Commonwealth and India.

New Zealand Creates Reserve

WELLINGTON (CP) — The New Zealand government today issued a proclamation giving effect to the government's decision, announced in June, to create a general reserve of manpower which will be able to compulsory national service.

R. Semple, Minister of National Service, announced that the 1st division of the reserve will be made up of unmarried men between the ages of 19 and 45. Maoris will be exempt.

Enrolled classes will be used in service overseas, for home defence, or for essential national work. Voluntary enlistment is discontinued.

In the process of enrolment consideration will be given to conjugal status, domestic responsibilities and age. Appeal will be allowed against army service on grounds of undue hardship, employment in essential work, and conscientious objection.

Roosevelt Accepts Farley Resignation

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of James A. Farley as Postmaster-General of the United States, effective August 31. The President said their friendship would always continue.

Mr. Roosevelt dictated a letter to Farley in which he said he accepted the resignation with "real regret," wished Farley success in private business and praised his administration of the post office department.

"All of us in the administration," the President wrote, "will miss you deeply; we count on seeing you often. I especially count on this after all of our years of close personal association."

Among reports of Farley's future activities is one that he would head a syndicate in purchasing the New York Yankee baseball property.

NO CONFIRMATION OF SEA BATTLE

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The British search for Nazi merchant raiders spread in widening circles over the south Atlantic today, centring on Trinidad Island, where the armed merchant cruiser Alantara clashed July 28 with an armed German raider.

Brazilian and British official sources at Rio de Janeiro said lack of confirmation of a reported second battle off Victoria, Brazil, yesterday, inclined them to the belief it was "just another rumor."

AMISH BUILD BARN IN DAY

NEW MARKET, Md. (AP)—Benjamin Stoltzfus' big new barn glistened in the sunlight today, as fine a farm building as could be found in St. Mary's County.

It was a landmark of the Amish in Maryland—and the inspiration of more talk than any project the sleepy southern Maryland county has seen in months, too, because it went up just like that—in one day, and farmer Stoltzfus paid out not a cent for labor.

Stoltzfus is the leader of an Amish colony that migrated recently from Pennsylvania, and when he got ready to build his barn 100 of his Amish brethren from that state came down to help.

They don't own cars, but they hired private cars and a chartered bus and journeyed 160 miles to aid the "Maryland colonists." The latter, about 25 of them, moved out of Pennsylvania last year in a search for less expensive land.

The barn went up with magical speed as the heavily-bearded Amish worked almost silently under a hot sun in their typical garb—black shoes, buttonless trousers, dark shirts and pork-pie hats.

They brought the womenfolk along to prepare dinner and ate in shifts.

U.S. to Build 60 Ordnance Plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—A permanent munitions industry, owned largely by the federal government and capable of supplying an army of 2,000,000 men, has emerged as one of the major goals of the United States defense program.

Robert P. Patterson, new assistant secretary of War, described as an "innovation" the idea that most of the projected 60 ordnance plants to be built with government funds would be established on a permanent basis.

Traditionally, the United States has maintained a system of government arsenals which formed the nucleus of a munitions industry but which was not capable of rapid expansion in an emergency.

To prepare better for future crises, Patterson said the new powder, loading and storage plants would be designed for long life. He made it plain, however, that they would be operated only for such periods as are necessary to prepare the required stocks of munitions.

The army already has been given $244,000,000 of the $700,000,000 required for the new plants and has contracted with the Du Pont interests to operate a $25,000,000 powder plant in southern Indiana. A shortage of labor capable of manning the necessary loading plants is proving something of a problem, Patterson said.

Cripps Sees Molotov

He likewise conferred last night with A. I. Mikoyan, commissar for foreign trade, presumably on the subject of British-Russian trade negotiations.

Press Best News Medium of War, Says Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Plans for introducing into Canada a government-controlled news system on European lines through centralization of its public information offices has been ruled out by the cabinet. Canada will continue to rely on regular channels of public information for distribution of news of the war effort.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, under whose administration public information is included, said in a statement issued today that "the government agrees that public interest can be served best by collection and distribution of news bearing on Canada's war effort through the regular functioning channels, particularly when the medium is the press."

He was commenting on advice received from D. B. Rogers, editor of the Regina Leader-Post, who had been asked by the minister to conduct a study of existing public information facilities in Ottawa.

HIGH-POWERED PUBLICITY FUTILE

Mr. Gardiner stated it was the expressed opinion of Mr. Rogers that high-powered publicity and propaganda organizations whose aim was to control and point the news in a given direction had failed utterly in all democracies to satisfy either the people, the newspapers, or the government involved.

"There is no more justification for interference with the normal flow of news in time of war than in times of peace," Mr. Rogers said, "and governments which were truly interested in securing an intelligently-informed public opinion could best bring this about by increasing the accessibility of news at its source."

The minister pointed out that in general Mr. Rogers advised against centralization and emphasized the importance of relying on utilization of existing channels of public information to as great an extent as possible.

"Mr. Rogers' main conclusion might be stated in his own words: 'Let the news be released in the regular way while it is news,' said Mr. Gardiner. 'The government considers it wise to continue to proceed along that line in its relationship with the press.'"

Germans Delay French Refugees Returning Home

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

MOULINS, France (AP)—Only trickles of refugees, most plodding about on riding bicycles, are allowed to pass through this bottleneck of the jealously guarded pathway to their former homes in German-occupied territory.

A day of watching the lines of war-wanderers seeking to return to their home towns or farms—traveling on foot, in automobiles, on bicycles and in wagons—discloses that a major element in the slowness is the rigid control the Germans exercise along the border between the occupied and unoccupied zones.

(Moulins lies along the Allier River in central France, about 160 miles southeast of Paris and 30 miles north of Vichy, temporary capital of the Petain government.)

PAPERS REQUIRED

Every returning refugee must have papers approved by French and German control stations and must undergo examinations by the Germans before being permitted to pass the barriers.

Refugees afoot or riding bicycles are given numbers which are called out when the German control station sends word to permit another group to pass.

When the numbers are given out, the recipients are informed they probably will be forced to wait at least 10 hours. Consequently, many sleep along the roadside or in nearby woods so they may be first in line the next morning.

Along the way I noted four detachments of Belgian soldiers marching homeward and 300 more waiting in line at the German barriers.

Since train service between the occupied and unoccupied zones has been halted and a gasoline shortage is preventing operation of hundreds of automobiles, it is estimated many weeks may pass before refugees packing cities and villages of southern France will be enabled to return to their homes.

After reaching maturity, oysters remain male for 6 weeks, then turn female for the breeding season; then come a year of rest as a male again.

$50,000 Stamp Changes Hands

NEW YORK (AP)—A tiny, black-and-magenta bit of paper valued at $50,000 has changed hands after an 84-year history, rivalled by only the most precious of diamonds.

It is the world's most valuable stamp—the only known one cent British Guiana cover of 1856 in existence.

Macy's Department Store purchased it yesterday for an unnamed client at an undisclosed price from Mrs. Ann Hind Scales of Utica, N.Y.

Thus the little sticker sought by leading collectors the world over entered a new chapter of romantic peregrinations that might be envied by the Hope or Jonker diamonds.

Chronologically, the saga of the stamp leads through several unidentified owners before its discovery in 1873 as something out of the ordinary.

That year L. Vernon Vaughan of Demerara, British Guiana, found it while looking over some old family papers. He sold it to a collector for six shillings.

It found its way into the collection of Count Philippe La Renottiere von Ferrary. It remained there for 44 years, the count struggling off incredible offers for it. He never sold a stamp.

AUCTIONED IN 1920

In 1917, however, Count Ferrary died and willed his collection—valued as high as $25,000,000—to the postal museum in Berlin. At the close of the first Great War, the French government announced the collection would be sold for the reparations account.

Three years later the auction was held. The bidding was spirited for the world's rarest stamp, with Arthur Hind—late husband of Mrs. Scales—competing with a wealthy Alsatian manufacturer.

After a dispute in which Hind's agent and the manufacturer both claimed the seal, the latter backed down and it went to Hind for $32,500. Later Hind disclosed he had authorized his agent to bid $60,000 for it.

Before his death, Hind gave the stamp to his wife, who up to yesterday turned down offers for it ranging up to $38,000.

Among those who had sought the stamp was the late King George V. When the present war broke out, a movement had been started in England to purchase it by popular subscription for the royal collection, and $32,000 was raised.

The stamp is the only one of a British possession that is missing from the royal collection.

Toronto Cheers Gracie

TORONTO (CP)—Gracie Fields, who is in Toronto to participate in a charity concert, stood on the steps of the City Hall and sang "There'll Always Be an England." She received a great ovation.

The song followed a public reception tendered Miss Fields shortly after her arrival here by plane from Hollywood. As she left the City Hall a large throng called for a song.

"There's only one song for an occasion like this," she said. "And that's 'There'll Always Be an England.'"

Manfred McGeer Runs in Mackenzie

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Manfred McGeer of Vancouver will stand as Liberal candidate in the provincial by-election in Mackenzie constituency. He was chosen on the second ballot and then given a unanimous vote of confidence at a nominating convention here last night.

The provincial by-election was made necessary by the death last January of M. J. Bryan, Liberal M.P.P.

Three other names mentioned as possible Liberal candidates were: James Drummond of Gibson's Landing; Charles Williams of Lasqueti Island; and Mrs. T. Forrester of Pender Harbor.

After his nomination, Mr. McGeer said it would be a difficult election, and asserted "the C.C.F. would be the party to beat."

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, spoke briefly after Mr. McGeer's nomination, crediting the late Mr. Bryan for legislation providing credit unions in British Columbia.

He said "the government had no option in holding a by-election at this time, since a by-election must be held within six months after the death of a member."

"If the opponent's don't want an election, they can give a vote of unanimity to the Liberal candidate," Mr. Hart said.

May Get Acclamation

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Louis O. Breithaupt, Kitchener industrialist and former mayor, was chosen last night at a convention of the North Waterloo Liberal Association to contest the August 19 by-election called to fill the House of Commons vacancy created by the elevation of Hon. W. D. Euler to the Senate.

Representative of North Waterloo for 23 years, Senator Euler told the convention he expected Breithaupt would be elected by acclamation.

TORONTO.—In the first six months of the year 1,118,331 men visited Salvation Army Service centres in Canada, and $15,742 of these were served at the canteens.

Nearly 400,000 soldiers used Red Shield letterpaper and envelopes and 163,703 received free meals.

Concerts were held to the number of 392 with an attendance of 72,601, and devotional services were patronized by 22,177 men.

The sock darning and mending booths attended to 18,949 articles of clothing, while 1,086 articles were given out.

The overseas service now in several centres with Canadian troops is not included in these figures.

Farming in Canada Due for 'Catastrophe'

CALGARY—Only intelligent planning in Canadian agriculture can avert "a debacle far more intense and far-reaching than that witnessed in the 1925-35 period," according to E. W. Brunsten, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture.

"Canadian agriculture is rapidly moving toward a major catastrophe," Mr. Brunsten declared.

He compared the situation that

"It took 10 years for the expansion of agriculture required as a material aid in winning that war to work its way to the inevitable result," he said.

The Canadian government should admit primary producers into "full partnership" in the planning of agriculture, Mr. Brunsten added.

The War Session

IF THE FIRST SESSION OF CANADA'S

19th Parliament disposed of its business in much quicker time than usual—less than three months—it will go down as one of the most momentous meetings of the elected representatives of the people in the country's history. It approved with comparatively little controversy a budget of nearly $1,400,000,000, a trifle less than three times as much as asked for in peacetime and approximately half the national debt before the outbreak of war, endorsed with similar facility legislation which places the nation's material resources and its manpower at the disposal of the state for the duration of the conflict now nearing the end of its first year, and wrote into the statute books of the Dominion an Unemployment Insurance Act that should prevent the waste and irritation invariably accompanying uneconomic formulas for dealing with periodic vicissitudes in the labor market. Noteworthy in the passage of this measure was the fact that it required an amendment to the British North America Act—hitherto impossible to obtain because of lack of agreement among the provinces. Unanimity on this important national question, incidentally, may rightly be interpreted as a sign that at no time since Confederation have the people of Canada been so united in a common purpose as they are today.

Of special importance to every Canadian, of course, was the budget which Mr. Ralston introduced in June and the intimation from Mr. Halsey—who succeeded to the portfolio when his predecessor went to the Ministry of National Defence—that as the conflict progressed, and Canada's huge contribution to the Empire effort continued to expand, further demands on the public purse would no doubt have to be made. This is precisely what everybody expects. And before Parliament adjourned to meet again on November 5, earlier if circumstances should warrant, it must have been persuaded that the dominant note being struck from the Atlantic to the Pacific is one of determination to see the war through to a successful conclusion, no matter what the cost or how long it may take. Nor is it too much to say that the people as a whole were satisfied with the government's conduct during the session, more especially, perhaps, because an opposition was on duty to criticize—a good thing at all times but particularly when an administration functions with a record majority. Mr. Hanson found much to do as leader of the Conservative Party and he acquitted himself well. The Prime Minister has shown commendable judgment in his allocation of responsibility for the conduct of Canada's share of the war.

Deciding Wisely

CANADA DOES NOT PROPOSE TO undertake high-pressure propaganda, either to influence public opinion or to impart artificial value to straight news, because such a policy does not conform to sensible democratic procedure. This is the view apparently reached by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of War Services, who had asked Mr. D. B. Rogers, the able editor of the Regina Leader-Post, to study the problem of war news distribution from the standpoint of the interest of the people as a whole.

In other words, the recommendation from this well-known Canadian journalist, who knows that no newspaper will act in conflict with sound policy, is that if the government will permit news to be released while it is news, few difficulties or troubles will ensue. Mr. Rogers puts it this way:

"There is no more justification for interference with the normal flow of news in time of war than in times of peace, and governments truly interested in securing an intelligently informed public opinion could best bring this about by increasing the accessibility of news at its source."

Mr. Gardiner agrees, therefore, that the right policy for the government to follow is to "continue to proceed along that line in its relationship with the press." It is the commonsense way. Newspapers do not, for example, try to tell military men how to run their internal business. A uniform and a title do not automatically endow an officer with knowledge gained only after years of experience.

What Was Expected

BRITAIN'S MINISTRY OF ECONOMIC Warfare has announced that it does not propose to allow shipments of food to pass through the blockade to German-occupied territory; first, because the British government is far from convinced that it would reach subjugated populations reported to be in need of it; and, secondly, because there need not be any famine this winter, for it contends the continent's harvests and reserves ought to be adequate with general distribution to prevent general famine—provided the Germans do not take the best for themselves and leave the conquered populations hungry. In other words, and realizing better than any other people that she is fighting for her very life, Britain is implacably opposed to relieving the Reich of any of its obligations, not excepting the increasing trouble Hitler and his cohorts may have in their dealings with sorely-trying folk within violated territories.

It is all part of the Nazi plan, of course, to prepare a scene of famine and desolation for the peoples of the Americas to contemplate. Goebbels and Geyda will work overtime in their efforts to prove to the world in general that women and children are starving in their tens of thousands, because the wicked British will not permit food to pass through the blockade, food which the American people, with generous hearts, desire should be distributed—or so we shall be told—in a manner typical of Nazi thoroughness. This type of propaganda may be swallowed by a small and unimaginative section of the populace of this hemisphere, who have plenty of food and raiment and are in no danger of shortage, either through war or any other agency. But it will be too transparent for people who know the Nazi record. It will fool neither President Roosevelt nor Mr. Hull; it will not get far with those who understand the totalitarian threat in all its implications. Germany wanted guns instead of butter; she got them. If there is famine in Europe this winter, she, and she alone, will be responsible for it.

B.C.'s Internal Security

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GORDON S. WISMER's flying visit to Ottawa at the request of the Dominion authorities and British Columbia's members of the House of Commons and Senate has resulted in the completion of arrangements for the internal security plan for this province. His original scheme for the enlistment of 750 experienced veterans, who would furnish the framework of the organization, will be extended to four companies of 250 each. These will constitute the active working body with whose co-operation the services of many citizens will be enlisted. Appointed by the Dominion government to the position of internal security officer for Military District No. 11 is Lieutenant P. Sparling, whose brilliant military record and popularity among veterans' organizations will insure efficiency and thoroughness in administration from the outset. He and Mr. Wismer intend to confer at once with Brigadier C. V. Stockwell, the D.O.C. at Work Point, in order that the details of this important part of British Columbia's defence may be speedily worked out.

It is to be noted, incidentally, that registration of firearms within the province—the authority for which is vested in the Attorney-General—will begin on August 15. Within provincial discretion also lies the power to refuse permission to retain such firearms unless their owners' bona fides can be satisfactorily established. Likewise provided, under federal order, is punishment by fine or imprisonment for possession of unregistered arms after September 15.

It will be a matter of considerable satisfaction to the people of British Columbia to learn that the authorities at Ottawa, largely through the energetic manner in which Mr. Wismer has pleaded the special circumstances facing this part of the Dominion, now are fully alive to the urgent necessity of establishing suitable machinery in this military district which can be operated efficiently and on the shortest notice—in the event of any developments calculated to threaten or disturb our normal political or economic life.

It should be unnecessary at this stage, with so many reminders of the trials and tribulations for which other countries had not prepared, to emphasize the fact that our geographical position and alien population are factors which demand constant vigilance. Now that the Attorney-General's internal security scheme is warmly endorsed by the federal authorities, therefore, hearty co-operation on the part of all the populace may be expected.

Misses the Point

IT HAS REMAINED FOR THE NEW YORK Times to put its editorial finger on the weakest spot in Colonel Lindbergh's argument in favor of United States isolationism. It points out that although the "lone eagle" scorns the idea "that only the British fleet protects us from invasion," the plain fact is that our whole new program of national defence is built on the assumption that what happens to the British fleet is of vital importance to this country.

Not even all his friends and admirers really take Colonel Lindbergh seriously; but his arguments are dangerous, because they may appeal to that element in the population of the United States which is not familiar with the course the war has taken to date, and probably is not posted on the implications of a triumphant totalitarianism, either politically or economically.

As another United States newspaper puts it, "in all his (Lindbergh's) gratuitous advice, the one-time American idol of the air did not produce a formula for dealing with Hitler." Quite so; the only formula for dealing with Hitler, as General Pershing hinted in his radio broadcast on Sunday, is to fight him with his own weapons—as Great Britain and the British family are doing, and intend to keep on doing until totalitarianism has been defeated.

TO FIGHT THE MONSTER GERMANY IS

From Today's New York Times, by Telegraph

When what was commonly spoken of as "England" was transformed into "the British Commonwealth of Nations," following the World War, there were many who forecast the gradual dissolution of that mighty empire. But today that empire, in a period perhaps more critical than any other in its long history, is, thanks to British character and British statesmanship, more solidly a unit than ever before.

What Canada, Australia, New Zealand have done, and are doing, is in no need of the telling. They are Dominions. But there are also colonies. Within a recent five-week period Hongkong, Jamaica, the Gold Coast, Malaya, Trinidad, Cyprus, Ceylon, British Guiana have quietly sent nearly $2,000,000 to what is still the "Mother Country" for the purchase of airplanes. More is steadily following. Not much, perhaps, in these days of billions; yet it illustrates the determination of the Britisher, wherever he is, to fight the monster that Germany is today.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

PRINTED WORD

SEVERAL OF THE public prints have been worried lately about the reading habits of America, and a large university has concluded, after one of those horrid surveys, that less than half the population is interested in reading at all.

It is something to worry over. Indeed, when you go into a country store and find the shelves piled high with magazines devoted entirely to murder, the movies and adultery, you wonder whether a race fed on this kind of stuff is fit to endure. But whether our reading habits are worse than those of our grandfathers, when a few people read good stuff and the rest of the people read nothing, I don't know.

I suspect, though, that an undermining process is at work. In the country store I notice old and apparently respectable people glancing secretly at the sexy magazines, and the owner of the store near here tells me he is being ruined because people read all this stuff on the counter and never buy it. The only good customers are the children, who purchase the adventures of Bad Men, Strong Men, Invisible Men and Incredible Men.

You would have thought that the invention of reading and printing would have saved civilization. Here you have a world in which the poorest man can learn everything so far discovered by all the scientists, artists and economists. The whole heap-up of treasures of the world's learning, from Aristotle to Walter Winchell, are free to anyone who cares to go to a library. There is enough knowledge, freely circulated, to prevent all wars, social upheavals and misery of all sorts—if we would only absorb it.

The public prints have many theories to explain why people don't absorb it but the explanation is very simple. People are too lazy. The problem is not to find reading matter for them, not to discover information and facts for their use, but to persuade them to use them.

I will guarantee to take nine-tenths of the readers of this newspaper tonight and prove that they have not absorbed a tenth part of the information contained herein. I will guarantee to show that most of them have absorbed what they have absorbed erroneously, and mistaken most of the information thus absorbed. I will agree further that I belong to the nine-tenths which never knows what is happening or why, is constantly bewildered, and is constantly blaming Hitler, Mr. Chamberlain or Mr. King for everything. It is easier than reading for an hour or two a day.

I suppose it would be necessary, if you wanted an intelligent public, to have everybody read four or five hours and then we wouldn't know much. We have no intention of reading seriously for more than 15 minutes. If we read longer than that, it will be barge. People actually resent it if you take their money and try to give them any serious idea, if you try to give them real value instead of cheating them. They get sore if, in a moment of forgetfulness, I try to say anything sensible in this column. They say I'm crazy if I think I can afford to be anything but crazy.

TALKERS

THEY WOULD RATHER hear about something like the frogs collected by the little boy from next door from the shore of Cowichan River. "They talk," said he, demonstrating their vocal ability by prodding them gently in the stomach, whereat they emitted a faint squeak. "They talk all the time."

"But you don't know what they're saying," said his sister. "Well, there's one comfort, they won't talk about Hitler all the time, the way everybody else does." And she confided to me: "It was quite a sight when he found the frogs in the river. You should have seen him walking through the rapids, stark naked mind you, but for a hat, and then he'd stop every step and hold up a frog to each ear to hear them croak."

Having brought the talking frogs home to the lake, their owner placed them in the tin wash tub, thus postponing wash day indefinitely, but he tells me they were lonely. He could tell, apparently, by their talk. They said they were lonely. So he caught a large cat fish, three bullheads and crawfish and placed them in the wash tub for company, laddling them carefully in his mother's rubber bathing hat (which fact she will only discover on reading this).

But as I understand it, the catfish ate one of the bullheads, the crawfish bit one of the frogs with his sharp nipper and the wash tub was the scene of an all-night blitzkrieg. You could hear the frogs complaining sharply in the still darkness. And strangely enough, when the owner was absent digging worms to feed the catfish so he wouldn't attack the bullheads, the frogs escaped.

I make no charge. I only record that the little girl from next door winked at me when she offered her sympathy to the bereaved owner, who is now searching up and down the shoreline of the lake, pausing to listen for a faint croak. He is sure the frogs, will talk to him, calling for rescue. If you find a frog with a Cowichan accent, you had better write to the little boy from next door. He has posted a reward of ten cents and will throw in the catfish and crawfish for good measure.

STARTING SOMETHING

THE CAPTIVE government of France is going to stage a trial of former Premier Reynaud, Daladier and Blum to fix the blame for the conduct of French policy during the five years prior to the "salvation" of France by the Nazi conquest. But Hitler and his gangsters have learned something since the days of the Reichstag fire, and its famous aftermath. They are taking no chances on being made the world laughing stock once again, as they were made by Dimitroff's baiting of Goering. So this time the proceedings will be all secret.

There is one incidental laugh in the above announcement. The period under review will stop just short of 1934 when Pierre Laval, now Hitler's chief chore boy in France, personally in Moscow, contracted the treaty of mutual assistance between France and Soviet Russia. It was this same treaty which was thrown out the window when Messrs. Chamberlain and Daladier signed the Munich pact with Adolf Hitler. No witness will have any opportunity of asking the Nazis whether they really did do what the Russians say they did—secretly install dictaphones in the Munich room where Hitler, Chamberlain and Daladier were talking, carefully preserve those records, and then later take them to Moscow to let Joe Stalin hear for himself exactly what Mr. Chamberlain and Daladier were willing to let Germany do to Russia. No one will ever have the chance to find out in these trials if that trick is what really smashed to smithereens the British attempt of one year ago to reach an arrangement with the Soviet.

THE IMPORTANT part about these trials is that the people of the democracies may some day decide to put on a few of their CANADIANS IN WAR Lloyd George in his memoirs says that from September, 1916, onwards, the Canadian troops "... played a part of such distinction that thenceforward they were marked out as storm troops and for the remainder of the war they were brought along to head the assault in one great battle after another. Whenever the Germans found the Canadian Corps coming into the line, they prepared for the worst." There was, he says, no finer display of resolute intrepidity in the whole war than the taking of Vimy Ridge. "They fought," he continues, "through the worst horrors of Passchendaele in October and November of 1917. At the Battle of Amiens on August 8, 1918—Ludendorff's "Black Day"—the Canadians headed the British assault which shattered Germany's last hope of military success. And in August and September, 1919, the attack on the Drocourt-Queant Switch and the strongest nucleus of the Hindenburg line, swept across the Canal du Nord, stormed the Bourlon Wood and took Cambrai. All through the final advance to victory, Canadian troops were to the fore."

A DUTCH PASTIME From Manchester Guardian

The influx of Dutch refugees may see the introduction into this country of a game which has survived in Holland for nearly 500 years without a change. The game, Kolf, is a mixture of golf, skittles, and shove-hallop. Generally it is played in a covered concrete court 22 yards long and 5½ yards wide; the floor is divided into 12 unequal spaces each of which has a different scoring value. The bigger the space the less is its scoring value. The object of the players is to hit a rubber ball with a club similar in shape to a shortened ice-hockey stick with the blade cut off to resemble the head of a golf club, and to make the ball rebound off a rounded rubber post at the far end of the court into one of the marked divisions on the floor.

YOUNG ART LOVERS

From Australian News Letter

Among 91,899 people who visited the Queensland Art Gallery last year, children predominated. Record attendance for one day was 2,075 on the occasion of the all-school sports at the show ground nearby. In exhibition week last year the trustees tried the experiment of opening the gallery at night, but the attendances were disappointing. During the year five pictures were purchased by the trustees, seven were presented, and one was bequeathed to the gallery.

NO WONDER THEY VOTED FIVE TO ONE!

Housewives can't be fooled on how to tempt the morning appetite!

Start you quick? Absolutely! Help keep you going? So rich in carbohydrate "fuel" they release energy for hours. But most of all, Kellogg's taste so good—because only Kellogg's have the secret of the rich, mellow Kellogg flavour. That's why housewives voted five to one for Kellogg's, as against any other corn flakes. That's why tea tasters, coffee blenders, chefs choose Kellogg's, blindfold, as first for flavour. Give your family the breakfast that tempts sleepy appetites—they'll get more good from it! Get several packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes from your grocer tomorrow. Made only by Kellogg's, London, Canada.

Everywhere the verdict is Kellogg's first for flavour!

When asked for their family's favourite ready-to-eat cereal, five times as many housewives said Kellogg's as said any other kind of corn flakes. And Chief Taster, Mr. F. D. Wilkins, of Tea Cup Tea, agrees: "Kellogg's is first for flavour." Remember that next time you breakfast out, and ask for Kellogg's Corn Flakes in the individual wax-wrapped package.

Only a few pennies! That's all it costs to serve the whole family. Try Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Ask for the new family-size package.

SLOW MOTION IN GOVERNMENT OFFICE

To the Editor:—As a British subject and former resident of British Columbia I should like to draw attention to a detail of Canadian administration which one can only hope is not typical of more vital departments of the Canadian government.

Seven weeks ago my husband and I arrived in British Columbia for an intended two weeks' vacation. On July 1, owing to the imposition of new U.S. immigration regulations, we found that as resident aliens of the United States we were obliged to renew our Canadian passports and obtain visas before we could return home. On July 2 we airmailed the passports to Ottawa, having been informed in Victoria that we might expect to be delayed for about two weeks until they were renewed. On July 15, not having received them, we wired the passport office to make sure that they had arrived and to find out when they would be returned. On July 22, not having had any acknowledgment of this message, we wired again, explaining that it was imperative for us to return at once to our family and business in California. Again we had no reply.

It was only through the good offices of a high British official, with whom my husband happened to be personally acquainted, that we finally received our passports today—nearly five weeks after they were dispatched to Ottawa. When one considers that the only visible evidence of their having passed through the hands of the government is a rubber stamp mark on each—which could scarcely have taken more than five seconds to apply—the delay in performing this operation is nothing short of incredible.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no catalyst or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. Be

SEEN A LETTER SMUGGLED FROM GERMANY

To the Editor:—The writer has been told that he is likely to become unpopular on account of his "defeatist" letters. Therefore, while popularity should not weigh against duty, he hastens to state that in his opinion, in spite of Germany's sensational "victories," Britain is actually winning the war. He fully realizes that his judgment is of no value in itself, but in this case it is buttressed by that of a Canadian and an Englishman, both of which men carry weight. Furthermore, he has just read a letter smuggled out of Germany, written by a famous German, which goes far to confirm these three appraisals.

The question facing the New World is this: if the Royal Navy fails to hold, or if the invasion of Britain fails or is postponed, what next? Germany must find more countries to loot. It should be borne in mind that on first sight a defeatist or alarmist statement looks the same as a precautionary one; it is only on close study that we discover which is possible or even probable; the resultant confusion of thought has been an important asset to Germany. Let a Mr. Gerard predict that the States will soon be in the war, straightway a Mr. Ford or a Col. Lindbergh proclaims that there will be no war on this continent, that war benefits no one except the few financially interested in promoting it, and that two oceans protect us.

Such prophets may be, often are, consciously or unconsciously inspired by Germany, and tend to lull us into that false sense of security which has proved so deadly to England. We should never forget that Germany's major victories have been due to catching her enemies napping. Even Mr. Gerard limits the coming attack on the States to east, west or south; even he has apparently not seriously considered a possible attack through the north, perhaps the greatest danger of all.

H. H. WILCOX.

HARTNELL SHOULD KNOW

To the Editor:—When I first heard about Peter Hartnell's remarks against the Jews, I commenced to think how very little for a good Catholic churchman he seemed to know about the Jews. We must remember that we have received many good things from the Jews. We have received the Bible from the Jews. Moses and all the 12 Apostles were Jews. On account of that, it seems to be advisable for us to respect the Jews. This is my advice to Mr. Hartnell when he comes back to Victoria from jail.

AGAINST RACE-TRACK GAMBLING

To the Editor:—In Canada, the money wagered in racetrack gambling at race meets runs into millions of dollars. There is no use attempting to disguise the fact that gambling is sheer waste—and worse, and there is no use in attempting to disguise the fact that race tracks are conducted for the private gain of the promoters who hide behind the legal fiction that racing (with gambling machines as the main attraction) is to develop horse-breeding.

Is it sane or patriotic that at a time like this when every dollar is needed in our national defence, when heavy taxes are necessary to enable us to pull through, that millions of dollars be wasted in legalized gambling? Why does not the Dominion government prohibit race meets for the duration of the war? And failing this, will patriotic citizens refrain from attending such meetings when our brave sons prepare to shed their blood for Christ and King?

FIGHTING FOR CHRISTIANITY

To the Editor:—The present war began when Japan attacked Manchuria and China fought back. 'Till last September there had been only three actual fighters against the new world—evil, China, Republican Spain and Abyssinia. Not one of these was Christian, not one received the support of Christian nations. Quite the contrary.

In Spain all official Christianity, both Roman and Anglican, was on the same side as Hitler. Two Popes in succession called Franco their "dear Christian son"; the present man also supports Petain, another Hitler puppet. The blessings of religion were exported by Italy to the Ethiopians.

But how? With mustard gas. That may be good "crusading." It is certainly not good ethics. Again Poland, the country for which the Allies finally did make a stand, was not in the same class as Spain, Bohemia and China. It was Christian; but it had been jointly with Hitler, an aggressor on the Czechs. It was notorious for its persecution of the Orthodox Christians, the old warfare of the Latin and Greek churches. These three examples are illuminating. W. D. MUNRO.

Thousands of us have them over there through no fault of our own and we have secured, or made applications for, passports, and now we are told that we can't get across, or even get a few U.S. dollars with a permit unless our folks over there are dying. ### Sylvia Pankhurst Aiding Ethiopians

LONDON (CP)—Sylvia Pankhurst, suffragist aide of Haile Selassie, whom Britain has recognized as the rightful ruler of Ethiopia, said today she was seeking to rally American negroes to a movement to overthrow the Italians in Ethiopia.

"American negroes can strike a blow not only to help their own race by aiding the Ethiopians, but also for all democracy by enabling these great fighters to become active allies of Britain in the African campaign," she declared.

She said she wants to enlist Negro fliers and get planes and funds for the Ethiopians.

The failure was the main trouble encountered by motorists during 1939, with battery trouble and ignition running second and third, respectively.

Lady Tweedsmuir Loses Mother

LONDON (CP)—Hon. Mrs. Norman Grosvenor, the mother of Lady Tweedsmuir, died yesterday.

Mrs. Grosvenor was a daughter of Sir Hon. James Stuart-Wortley, who was Solicitor-General under Lord Palmerston. In 1881 she married Hon. Norman Grosvenor, who died in 1898.

She started the Colonial Intelligence League for educated women, which is now incorporated into the Society for Overseas Settlement of British Women, the women's branch of the Colonial Office. For this work she was made a commander of the order of the British Empire.

Mrs. Grosvenor did miniatures and water colors, which she exhibited, and wrote three novels and, in co-operation with a member of her family, wrote the "Memoirs of the First Lady Wharncliffe."

$200 for Red Cross

Mrs. Amy Carr, worthy supreme conductor of the Daughters of St. George, who is visiting here from Los Angeles, was welcomed at a meeting of Victoria Lodge No. 83, in the S.O.E. Hall last evening, the president, Mrs. E. Skelland, in the chair. Also present were members of Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238.

An interesting talk on the work of the order was given by Mrs. Carr, who told of work being done by the grand lodge and of the group to which she belongs. Mrs. Skelland thanked Mrs. Carr for her instructive address.

A game of bingo was conducted by Mrs. H. Penketh and a lace cloth, donated by Mrs. Alice Gurney, was disposed of, the proceeds of both undertakings being donated to the Red Cross fund. A mock auction held at the last meeting was reported by Miss E. Reed. Mrs. Gurney reported that Victoria Lodge No. 83, with the assistance of a number of lodges in the United States, has already raised over $200 for the Red Cross and she thanked the American members for their many kindnesses in helping so generously.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames J. Brown, M. Hooper, K. Herring and E. Cownden. It was decided to hold a card party after the next meeting.

English 'War Guests' Are Grateful to Red Cross

Warm and unsolicited tribute to the services of the Red Cross in assisting "war guests" on their arrival in this country is contained in the following letter received at Red Cross headquarters from Mrs. Stedman, wife of Prof. Ralph Stedman of St. Andrew's University, Dundee, Scotland, who recently arrived in Victoria with her two children, Mark and Michael, to stay for the duration of the war with her grandmother, Mrs. E. Crow Baker, "Sissinghurst," Gorge Road.

"I have just arrived in Victoria from Scotland with my two little boys and would like to thank the Red Cross through you for the kind way in which your society helped to make our arrival in Canada and the trip across so pleasant. It may also interest those who are expecting children, friends and relatives from the Old Country to know how well the Red Cross and the National Committee for Refugees have organized the reception and care of so many hundreds of British women and children. If anything I say relieves their anxiety it will only have repaid my debt to your society a tiny fraction. The majority of our ship viewed their arrival in a strange country with apprehension. As a Canadian-born Britisher I felt sure they would be made to feel at home, but I never realized how great a welcome awaited us all.

REFRESHING CONTRAST

"At the immigration sheds on the docks the efficient way in which such hundreds were handled was a refreshing contrast to the long queues in Glasgow, with no seating facilities. As soon as we were through, the Red Cross took charge of the children and they were given biscuits and milk. Some of the children were there for five or six hours, while their parents sat to railway tickets, customs, etc., but there were toys and 100 cots available. It was a long wait before the three special trains were made up and pulled out. We landed at 2 o'clock and were not on board the second special train until 11 p.m. The Red Cross set up a stall and distributed free milk and biscuits all that time. At 10 o'clock some women brought along ginger ale and ham sandwiches and we only wished there had been more.

"There were over 600 children on our ship, 100 or more were infants and 80 were traveling alone. The C.P.R., however, puts these children in the charge of the chief stewardess. She visits each twice a day and, if seasick, nurses them. She told me that the company is responsible for each one and that a conductress swimming party and luncheon at Mrs. Graham's camp at Glen Lake. The guest of honor was presented with a lovely table lamp and a corsage bouquet. The invited guests included Mrs. R. A. Wright, Mrs. C. W. Wray of Portland, sister of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Ian McCandless, Mrs. Alan Mayhew, Mrs. George McCandless, Mrs. Andrew Pitkethley, Mrs. W. G. Means, Mrs. A. Hunt, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson and the Misses Helen Eve, Hope Denbigh, Constance Ann Hobbs, Valerie Kearton, Mildred Jones, Roma Dorman, Eileen Pendray and Elaine Adams.

In honor of Miss Marjorie Brown, whose marriage to Mr. Dick Hoyle will take place on Saturday, Mrs. D. Kenneth Graham and Mrs. W. Adamson were joint hostesses yesterday at a takes charge of them until they are handed over to the relatives or friends waiting for them. As soon as they landed the company made sure they had notified their hosts of their safe arrival, by wire. As there was a boy of 12 in our cabin travelling unaccompanied, and on the train a boy of 9, and a brother and sister of 12 and 10, I had an opportunity of seeing how they were cared for.

MONTREAL HOSPITALITY

"We were delayed in Montreal all one Sunday and the English mothers with babies and small children were worried as to how they could put in the day, get food, etc. They were agreeably surprised to be greeted by half a dozen charming women belonging to the National Committee for Refugees, wearing arm bands and their names, who offered to arrange hospitality and entertainment for them all.

"We were advised where to go for a meal, were put in touch with our friends; and we were taken off to various centres for a bath, a rest, lunch and a drive. A Protestant orphan's home and a girls' school took many. One friend of mine left her baby there and went to church. My two boys and myself were taken by a voluntary driver to "Elmwood," Lady Athelstan's country home, which has been made into a hospital for transient evacuees.

"There we had a bath, rested and enjoyed a beautiful day on cool verandas overlooking green tree-shaded lawns and the St. Lawrence River. We had dinner there with 14 boys from Abinger School, who were on their way to a school in Ottawa. In the evening 20 more were expected, so we were driven into town in time for our train, refreshed and happy, after a perfect day in the country. During the afternoon, all the boys had been taken to a swimming pool in a private garden, where they spent three happy hours in and out of the

"As my own people met me in Vancouver I cannot say what the reception is like here. One English woman, however, told me the other day that she was offered hospitality by a stranger, and that she was so overcome at such kindness, she burst into tears. I have written rather fully of my experiences because I am so grateful for the pleasant reception given us, and because I feel as many people as possible should know what is being done for Canada's "war guests."

To Supplement Hospital Fund

A further effort will be made by directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital and organizations supporting that institution to supplement the funds already collected for financing the new wing which is now under construction.

A total of $17,000 was collected as a result of the last appeal, but this is far short of the total required with which to complete financing of the new project.

In view of this it is proposed to hold a Hospital Day on August 31, when taggers will be placed on the downtown streets so that the public generally will have an opportunity of contributing to this worthy cause.

It is felt that there are thousands of citizens who would like to support the institution, but have not the means to make a large donation. Through the medium of a tag day these citizens will have an opportunity to donate their modest subscriptions and thereby help the institution that is helping them.

The need for increased hospital facilities is continually growing, particularly in view of the fact that military, air force and naval enlistments are growing rapidly.

THIS MONEY-SAVING MODERN PACKAGE

I'm all in favour of the convenience, protection, and usefulness of modern food packages. But I certainly like better still a modern package which also saves me money—like the red-and-white-labelled Carnation Milk can.

Just imagine this—every quality that milk, in its ordinary form, has, extra qualities of convenience and usefulness—and a saving in money!

Carnation is whole milk evaporated to double richness—only water taken out. But look what you get—keeps indefinitely on the pantry shelf; takes the place of cream for coffee, cereals and for whipping; makes all milk dishes (custards, ice cream, soups, sauces, puddings) smooth in texture, because it is homogenized; adds extra "sunshine" vitamin D; is specially recommended by doctors for baby feeding.

But prove all this for yourself. Get a few cans of Irradiated Carnation Milk from your grocer. Try it in your own recipes. Send for the beautifully illustrated deluxe Carnation Cook Book and try some of its recipes. 15¢ (postpaid). Carnation Company, Ltd., Abbott St., Vancouver.

RICE-CREAM PUDDING
(an economy dessert from the Carnation Cook Book)
1/4 cup uncooked rice, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 cups Carnation Milk diluted with 2 cups water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup raisins, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Into a deep baking dish place rice, sugar, milk and salt. Bake in moderate oven (375°F) until a brown crust forms. Stir this under and continue baking until custard has been stirred under three times. Add raisins, reduce heat to 350°F, and bake until rice is very tender. Remove from fire and add vanilla. Serve hot or cold with Caramel Sauce—1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 teaspoon butter. Combine ingredients, cook 3 minutes in double boiler.

Demonstrate Many Phases of Nursing

Practical demonstrations of many phases of nursing featured yesterday's sessions of the refresher course in nursing leadership now being conducted here by Miss Margaret Lindeburgh of Montreal.

At St. Joseph's Nurses' Home yesterday afternoon, Dr. Donald Williams, Vancouver, led a symposium on venereal disease control. Miss Pauline Capelle and Miss Ursula Whitehead taking part in the discussion. A pre-natal and post-natal clinic demonstration was a feature of the afternoon's program, the object being to show the value of such service, and those taking part were Misses Doris Hibbertson, Doris Manning, Mary Leith, Jean Hamilton and Ethel Laing.

A travelogue demonstration of a child health centre was given by Miss E. Rossiter, Miss Creaser, Mrs. A. K. Love, Miss Janet Pitchford, Miss Rae Kirkendale, Mrs. Bothwell, Dr. Richard Felton, Miss C. Perkins and Baby Richard Tyler, and little Bobby and Jerry Wray and Doreen Lapp.

Included in the characters portrayed were the nurses, voluntary workers, mothers and babies. In the morning, a demonstration was given of a nursing clinic, arranged by Sister Mary Alena, with Sister Miriam Therese and Sister Mary Laurena as supervisors. They were assisted by Miss Jean Purvis and four student nurses. Miss Hilton took the part of the public health nurse.

Discussion followed the presentation and later Miss Lindeburgh gave a general synopsis of the demonstration and general aspects of the subject, pointing out the value of better preparation of students. Miss Alison Reid prepared the script and emphasized the value of sharing experiences in which the ultimate aim is service.

Weddings

BOULTON—EASTICK

The marriage was solemnized by Rev. F. Vernon Venables in St. Saviour's Church last evening, between Ellen Isabella, only daughter of Mr. J. T. Eastick, and Mr. George Henry Boulton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Boulton, 3318 Wascana Street, Saanich.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by Mrs. Cleda B. Bell, and Mr. George E. Smith supported his cousin. A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt for the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Boulton will reside in Saanich.

PALMER—POWER

A former honors graduate of St. Ann's Academy was the bride at a quiet ceremony in Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, Tuesday morning at 8 when Rev. Father McGuire united in marriage Ellid Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Power, Vancouver, and Corporal William Sylvester Palmer, Irish Fusiliers, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Palmer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in white crepe featuring a high neckline, bracelet-length sleeves and dropped waistline. Her high draped turban was also white, and she carried the family heirloom misal covered in white velvet and ornamented with a spray of white gladioli and heather.

Miss Constance Power, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, wearing deep blue crepe with sweetheart neckline. Her turban was in matching shade and her necklace was of sweet peas in blended rose tones. Mr. Peter Louis Choquette was best man.

A reception was later held at the home of the bride's parents, when Mrs. Power received the guests attired in pale violet silk with brimmed black sailor hat and black accessories.

For her wedding trip to Vancouver Island the bride donned a Havana rose shirtwaist frock with patch pockets. Her accessories were black.

PORTER—GIRTON

Pink and white asters and gladioli decorated the altar and chancel of St. Columba's Church, Strawberry Vale, last evening for the wedding of Muriel Emily, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gorton, Marigold Avenue, and Mr. Eric Henry Porter, son of Mrs. H. Porter and the late Mr. Porter, 8 Regina Avenue. Rev. Eric Jackson performed the ceremony, and during the signing of the register Miss Elsie Fryatt sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mr. Jack Allan, who also played the wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace over satin, with a sweetheart neckline, long tapering sleeves and a train with lengths of net and lace. Her hip-length veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and her only ornament was a pearl sunburst which belonged to her late grandmother. She carried a snowier bouquet of Joanna Hill and Rapture roses.

Mrs. George Girton was matron of honor in a frock of pink chiffon with ruffled coatee and a large leghorn hat with pink velvet streamers, and she carried a sheaf of blue gladioli and blue larkspur. Miss Elsie Porter, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid in a pale blue chiffon frock, a large leghorn hat trimmed with pale blue velvet streamers and carried a sheaf of pale pink gladioli and larkspur. Mr. Stanley Porter supported the groom and Messrs. Gordon Gorton and Cecil Porter were the ushers.

The reception was held at the Strawberry Vale Hall, the young couple standing beneath a floral arch, between standard baskets of summer flowers. Mrs. Girton, wearing a gown of two-toned rose, with grey accessories, and corsage bouquet of cream roses, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Porter, mother of the groom, in rose-colored sheer with blue accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

The three-tier wedding cake centred the refreshment table, which was decorated with pink and white carnations in cut glass vases. Mr. F. Stacey proposed the toast to the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Porter left for a honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs, the bride travelling in a teal blue suit and hat with Burgundy accessories, and a beige top coat. They will reside in their new home, 3754 Saanich Road, on their return.

Among the many lovely gifts received was a coffee table from Mr. W. Bayliss, by whom the groom is employed, and to the bride a cheque from the firm of David Spencer, Limited, where she was employed.

Guests at the wedding were Mrs. G. Rounds, Mr. Gordon Rounds and Master Ronald Rounds.

Doug. Williams, Bill Cross, Sam Miller, Dave Miller, George Mannix, Frank Mannix and Mel Vout

WILCOX—WHEADON

At a quiet ceremony at St. Matthias Church, Foul Bay, yesterday afternoon at 5.30, Capt. Rev. Alan Gardiner solemnized the marriage of Kathleen Vivienne, elder daughter of Major T. R. Wheadon, Hollywood Crescent, and the late Mrs. Wheadon, and Mr. John Connell Wilcox, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilcox, 2321 Lee Avenue, Victoria. The church was prettily arranged with gladioli and other late summer flowers, and as the bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, Miss Dorothy Osborn played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin." During the signing of the register, Miss Elaine Basanta sang Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore a pretty afternoon gown of mist-blue crepe, with a wide brimmed felt hat to tone, and white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Tallman roses and white heather. Her sister, Miss Freda Wheadon, was her only bridesmaid, wearing an afternoon frock of dusty pink sheer, large white felt hat and white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Gordon Langley was groomsmen, and the bride's brother, Mr. Paul Wheadon, R.C.S.C., ushered the guests to the pews.

After the service a small reception for intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's father, Mrs. A. H. Lund, an old friend of the family, assisted the bride in receiving the guests, wearing a redingote ensemble of leaf-green sheer, with brown straw sailor hat and accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Tallman roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Wilcox, in a smart afternoon gown of turquoise crepe, trimmed with touches of gold, a brown felt hat and brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a cut-work cloth and centred with the three-tiered bride's cake, flanked by vases of gladioli. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jellis of Edson, Alta. After a honeymoon up-Island, for which the bride donned a beige topcoat, trimmed with lynx over her wedding frock, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox will reside in Victoria.

Kipling Society Picnic at Park

An enjoyable picnic was held by 35 members of the Kipling Society at Mount Douglas Park yesterday afternoon.

Picnickers went to the popular grounds soon after lunch, remained for a box supper and returned home around 8.

Some of the more energetic members hiked up the mountain during the afternoon while others congregated in the shaded park or on the beach.

A contest was held by which means money was raised to purchase socks for sailors.

On Sunday, members of the Omphalos Club were hostesses to about 40 soldiers from Macaulay Point Barracks at high tea. A lively sing-song was led by Miss Charlotte Crawford, assisted by Miss Winnie Baxter at the piano. This was made possible through the co-operation of Rev. J. ## Judges Named For Fall Fair Appointment of judges for the 79th annual Fall Fair of the B.C. Agricultural Association, to be held at the Willows from September 7 to 14, are announced by Secretary W. H. Means.

W. H. Means, of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Agassiz, has been chosen to adjudicate in the heavy draught horse division, which includes Bercherons, Belgians and Clydesdales.

In the cattle section, Dr. J. C. Berry, head of the department of animal husbandry at the University of British Columbia, will judge the Holsteins. Jersey cattle will be judged by Professor H. M. King of the University of British Columbia.

Guernsey cattle will be judged by R. H. Unsworth of Sardis, B.C., and Ayrshires by G. W. Shannon of Cloverdale, B.C.

A. C. Taylor of Milner, B.C., has been appointed judge of the sheep section. This covers 150 classes dealing with seven breeds of sheep, namely, Dorset Horns, Cheviots, Suffolk, Shropshires, Hampshires, South Downs and Oxford Downs.

For the swine section Jack Lewis of Cloverdale, B.C., has been chosen judge of three breeds, Yorkshires, Berkshires and Tamworths.

In the poultry division two judges have been chosen. They are Charles Good of Vancouver and H. D. Reid of Victoria.

In an entirely different part of the exhibition, the women's work department, Mrs. M. D. Merrick of Victoria, has been named judge of needlework, and Mrs. L. E. Nimo of Saanichton, judge of domestic science.

Car Plunges 90 Feet to Ravine

Thomas Jones, Jordan River, is in the Jubilee Hospital suffering from a possible skull fracture and extensive lacerations about the head following a 90-foot plunge in his car into a ravine on the Jordan River road yesterday.

B.C. Police from Victoria district headquarters reported he crashed through the guard rail on Jacob's bridge and dropped to the ravine below. His car was badly wrecked. Police said about 50 feet of the railing was torn away before the car dropped.

Constable Frank Clark of the highway patrol reached the scene about 5 o'clock, an hour after the accident, and found Jones unconscious beside his car.

He was rushed to hospital and attended by Dr. R. C. Newby.

JERSEY EVACUEES BOMBED BY HUNS

In a letter to Mrs. G. Le Gallais, "Robinson," Cranmore Road, Mrs. J. B. McNair of Jersey Island, Channel Islands group, tells of terrifying experiences when evacuating this island during the death days of France at the end of last June. Two years ago Mrs. McNair and her four children spent six months in Victoria, living at that time on Belcher Avenue.

In her letter, Mrs. McNair said that she and her family left Jersey on June 28 aboard a mail boat, and proceeded to Guernsey to pick up three German refugees. While there three German planes were sighted, but they did not take much notice of them, as never before had the Huns bothered to drop bombs on these islands. But this time the Nazis were bent on destruction and they attacked the port and the ship. When the raid came, Mrs. McNair and her children were caught on the open wharf, and as they ran for shelter bombs were being dropped all around and the planes were machine-gunning the wharf and ship.

Luckily, the tide was low and they managed to get shelter underneath the wharf, where they discovered that a machine gun bullet had passed through the front of the coat of one of her daughters. She said the noise was deafening with the sound of bursting bombs and the return fire of the anti-aircraft guns of the mail ship. After one hour of this the German planes turned and flew for home. The whole family reached the English coast safely next morning.

B.C. Tournney Here Sunday

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

AS THE CINCINNATI REDS fly high, apparently headed for another National League baseball championship, they offer an object lesson to the lower clubs of the majors, states the Sporting News, famous baseball publication. Habitual tail-end clubs like the St. Louis Browns, Philadelphia Phillies, Boston Bees and Philadelphia Athletics should take note. The Cincinnati team is visible evidence that it does not require a miracle to convert a chronic loser into a consistent winner.

"No club ever sang the second-division blues more lustily than the Rhinelanders of the last decade. Only three years ago, the outfit which Bill McKechnie now has playing .650 per cent ball was wallowing in the cellar. Cincinnati's fifth tail-end in seven years. After Jack Hendricks' Hornsby's St. Louis Cardinals in the last week of the 1928 season, the Rhinelanders were constant second-division tenants until McKechnie took hold in 1933. It even was said that Cincinnati, with the smallest population in the two majors, could not afford the luxury of first-division ball.

"In the winter of 1937-38, Warren Giles, who had been named general manager of the club by Owner Fowl Crosey Jr., looked for a man to lift the Reds out of the cellar. He surveyed the field and picked McKechnie out of Boston. McKechnie's Braves were in the second division, too, most of the time, but the Scot had a reputation for developing pitchers and getting the most out of mediocre material. In his first year in Cincinnati, McKechnie advanced the club from eighth to fourth. He was in the race until September, and all but accomplished the miracle of a former cellar dweller winning a flag the following season. However, the team was made the favorite in the spring of 1939 and it bore out the experts' judgment by winning the pennant. The Reds lost some prestige when they became a "four straight" victim of the New York Yankees in the world series, as the Chicago Cubs had been the year before, but that defeat did not hurt their morale and today they are amazing all followers of the game by their all-round consistency.

"The real lesson for other owners in the rise of the Reds is that no club is doomed to spend a lifetime in the second division, if it has the will to get out. The Reds have shown that it can be done. Some of the Cincinnati club's best players were with the team when it was flopping in the cellar. Big Ernie Lombardi came in 1932 and Paul Derringer in 1933. Derringer won seven that first year and lost 27; the next year he won 15 and lost 21. They were good players buried on second-division teams, just as there are good players hidden on the seventh and eighth place clubs of today.

"Fowl Crosey and Warren Giles have spent a lot of money for new players, but they threw none of it away. The club's expensive purchase, Buckey Walters from the Phillies for $55,000, proved one of the greatest bargains of baseball. He has paid rich dividends. Frank McCormick is a product of the Reds' own farm system, and had his first Red tryout as early as 1934. So is Gene Thompson. Billy Myers was acquired from the New York Giants in a deal for the veteran Koenig, before a much as reporting to Terry. Frey was purchased from Chicago for a modest sum, after he had been found wanting in Brooklyn, as well as the Cubs. After the Reds finished fourth in 1938, Werber was purchased for considerable above the market price after three American League clubs passed him up and the entire league waived on him. Last winter, Jim Turner, winner of only four games in 1933, was picked up by McKechnie, who had him in Boston, and again is a winner. None of these deals was sensational; they were simply the result of systematic well-planned organization."

The Albert Head Road shooting grounds of the Victoria Skeet and Gun Club will be the scene of British Columbia's outstanding shooting classic of the season on Sunday.

From mainland points, up-island centres and from south of the 49th parallel, crack scattergun marksmen will be here that day to vie for honors in the third annual provincial skeet championship tournament, which opens at 9 in the morning and continues through as long as daylight lasts.

While the American entry is expected to be smaller this year owing to the war, officials report there will be a strong contingent from the Canadian mainland on hand. These, together with island and local shots, should bring an entry of at least 50 active participants. Elbeek Wilson, secretary, reported today. The secretary says the marksmen competing will be of high class calibre, who should provide spectators with some classy exhibitions of marksmanship.

FINE PROGRAM

A splendid program of skeet and trap events has been arranged for the tournament, which will be featured by the provincial skeet championship event for the Lieutenant-Governor's trophy. This is competed for by B.C. shooters only. Victoria's Ernie Todd capturing it last year with a spectacular mark of 97 out of a possible 100. Visitors from outside the province shoot in this event also, but cannot win the main trophy. There is a special award for the high gun non-resident and a trophy for the runner-up British Columbian as well. Each entry in the feature event shoots at 100 targets.

A five-man team shoot open to squads from anywhere will be the other skeet highlight on the program.

The main feature of the traps event will be the 100-target singles, with trophies for high gun B.C. resident and non-resident high guns in C and D classes.

A special trophy has been presented by Todd, which is symbolic of the high-gun all-around B.C. championship. The skeet or trap shooter posting the best score in the first 50 shots in the two 100-target events wins this silver-plate.

A five-man team trap shoot is also listed.

Local club officials are hoping that Dr. Leonard of Trail, one of the outstanding shots in the province, will be here for the meet. Professionals C. K. Snell and "Deadeye" Laidlaw of C.I.L.; Bill Bellew of Manchester Repeating Arms Company and Scribner of Remington Arms Company will be on hand. If there is time on the program, these expert shots will give an exhibition.

TODD FAVORED

While Todd is Victoria's main hope to win the skeet honors again this year, Victoria will have several other good pigeon busters on hand to make doubly sure that the governor's trophy does not leave the capital city. The local entry in the tournament is large.

"Speed" Olson, former Calgary man who, a couple of weeks ago, busted 25 straight skeet targets to win himself a brand-new gun, will be out to try and better his mark on Sunday. Other Victorians who are expected to make a good showing in skeet and trap are: Wallace H. McMullen, Russ Horton, Dr. A. D. Bechtel, Johnny Wenger, Ernie Hasenratz, Horan Hasenratz, Fred Munt, Ted McFeeley, E. B. Wilson and Will Goetze.

A practice shoot will be held Saturday afternoon to give the shooters an opportunity to brush up for the Sunday meet.

Propose Three Grid Outfits

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's senior football league — the Big Four — will operate as a three-way circuit this coming season, if play continues at all, executives of the circuit decided last night at a meeting here.

Moving to disband for the year, league officials passed on to provincial Canadian football officials the suggestion that a three-way league, embracing Vancouver, Varsity and Victoria be formed to its stead.

Officials of the Big Four said that the four teams including Varsity, North Shore Lions, Knights of Columbus and Victoria, had lost heavily in men as a result of the war, and found the financial burden of a four-way circuit too great. Under the suggested plans the North Shore Lions and Knights of Columbus

Pirate Uprising

Upset Major Baseball

The Pittsburgh Pirates, famous August foldups, are unfolding finally into some semblance of the flower everybody expected from Frankie Frisch.

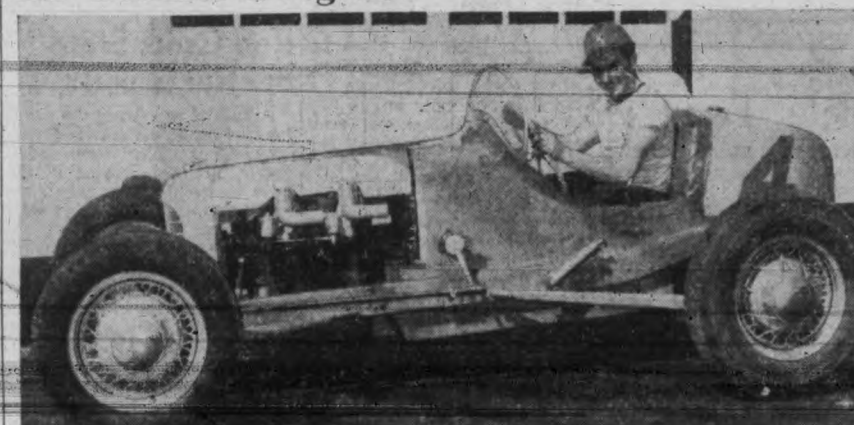

The club is no marvelous machine, but it's going places faster than any other outfit in the major leagues at the moment.

In two days it has swept three games from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Some days the Pirates win with good pitching and some days with good hitting, but mostly they just win. For instance, they tossed out the Cardinals 10 to 9 in the first game yesterday although they were out 18 to 9. In the nightcap the bold Buccos made a dozen runs on ace hits to win 12 to 6. Pitcher Max Butcher battered in four of the tallies himself.

The Cincinnati Reds gave more ground as they dropped a 5 to 3 (Turn to Page 13, Col. 3)

On Benefit Program

Auto races will be presented at Langford Speedway Saturday night in aid of Victoria's air supremacy drive. Scheduled to appear is Jack Frumento in his neat local No. 4 car. It will be Frumento's comeback appearance after racing major cars only once this season. He has been making a name for himself piloting midget racers. A complete program of events will be offered with several match races and novelties. The program will start at 7:45 with time trials.

Soldiers Show Sports Spirit

AT A FORT NEAR VICTORIA — Almost 400 husky, young 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade Artillery men, their muscular bodies tanned a copper hue by hot suns on parade grounds, were seen in action on the field of sport here yesterday afternoon.

On the surface the meet appeared to be an ordinary competitive affair, but it had a deeper meaning than that. Actually, it was just another phase of the khaki-clad men's training, because practically every event on the program — broad and high jumping, sprinting, ball throwing, shot-putting, hurdling and obstacle dashes — were athletic features the fighting men must become proficient in as they will undoubtedly have to employ them if they get into the theatre of war.

Held on a sun-baked, wind-swept meadow overlooking the sea, the sports lasted five hours and provided a keen brand of competition, for there was $125 worth of prizes at stake. No records were broken, it is true, but no champion could have done better with heavy regulation army boots weighing him down. Wearing of army boots was compulsory in the meet. Despite the handicap the soldier lads attacked their every objective on the track and in the field with a vigor that was a credit to them.

MAJOR KER JOINS IN

Major B. R. Ker, acting commanding officer of the 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, R.C.A., C.A.S.F., was on hand throughout the afternoon witnessing the proceedings. He, too, got a touch of the competitive spirit and during the meet was seen holding private contests with Lieut. Alf Hood on the jumps, tug-of-war rope and other events.

The meet was split up into two sections. First part of the meet listed for "tabloid" sports, in which seven platoons participated. This was classed as a physical efficiency test. The latter part of the program was devoted to open events.

While most of the troops taking part were 5th men, there were a few other entries from other units in the area, including a contingent of P.P.C.L.I. recruits, who are at the brigade camp for training and inoculations.

It was the Princess Pats squad under the leadership of Lieut. J. L. Saunders which ran off with the honors in the "tabloid" portion of the card. The Pats finished tied with Elmer Boyes' unit with 94 points, but as they won the last and feature obstacle race they carried off the "purse".

Officials explained there is no such thing as a tie in army sports. Finishing third was a team skipped by C. Chambers with 86 points. The teams were composed of the following: Saucier's team—H. Ritter, R. C. Cummings, Pat Martin, Steve Jacura, Steve Hunchuk, George Smith, J. Adams, James Artess and Jack Green; Boyes' team—George Barnes, E. G. Hart, T. R. Hobbs, J. Ostle, J. A. McCarthy, L. Robinson, D. Sims, H. Wright, J. R. Stockwell; Chambers' team—G. Denton, Copeland, Roy Lansley, Stan Joyce, Doug Dobbie, Magnuson, Renstrom, G. Blane, Ted Healey. In addition to the ordinary track and field events in this part of the program there was a ball-throwing contest at a likeness of Hitler. The boys took careful aim as there was warning above it that a miss would cost "seven days' C.B." The obstacle race was quite humorous.

ROWE, SMITH SHINE OUT

In the open events, soldiers who a few months ago were prominent in civilian athletics, starred — Hank Rowe, well known basketballer, and Sgt. Freddy Smith, rating runner, two firsts and Rowe one first and two seconds.

Feature of the open events was the tug-of-war. This was won by the big-muscled boys captained by Boyes: F. Venzie, G. Venzie, L. Robinson, R. Haldeman, Prestige, Meyer, C. E. Swift, Craig and A. T. Kennell. They beat out Roy Lanceley's squad, composed of P. Martin, T. B. Denton, J. Healey, C. Hardy, J. Rankin, R. G. Young, Magnuson, J. Blane and R. Jackson.

Winners of open events follow: 100-yard dash—1. Smith; 2. Rowe; 3. F. Rawson. 200-yard dash—1. Pat Martin; 2. T. Couler; 3. A. Atkinson and McCracken. 400-yard dash—1. L. Williams; 2. Marcel; 3. P. R. Anderson; horse-back pillow fight—1. C. E. Swift; 2. W. Erickson; 3. A. Atkinson. 500-yard dash—1. W. Bryand; 2. S. A. Gydol; 3. E. N. Erno. Shot put—1. Rowe; 2. E. Olson; 3. D. Morton. Running long jump—1. Smith; 2. (Turn to Page 16, Col. 1)

Cann Pitches Smart Victory

Lloyd Cann and Ted Maitland led Tillicum Athletics to a smart 2 to 1 victory over the Eagles in last night's senior baseball game at the Athletic Park. Results left the Athletics leading the circuit by four full games over the second-place lodgemen.

Cann, showing his best form of the season on the mound, held the Eagles to three scattered hits, and shutout the feathered tribe after the first inning. Cann fanned seven and walked a single batter. Maitland shared the honors with the hurler by providing the hit that won the ball game. After the Eagles had taken the lead in the first frame Tillicums scored the tying and winning runs in the third. Prior walked and went to third on Charlie Restall's single. The latter stole second. Both scored on Maitland's single over second.

Eagles pulled themselves out of a nasty hole in the sixth when Al Condon, first sacker, and Ray George at second, pulled off a triple killing. It happened this way: With runners on first and second Art Chapman lined out to Condon. The latter nipped Casey at first and threw to George to pick off Maitland.

Tillicums collected seven hits off Les Stobo. He struck out seven and walked four. Restall led the Tillicum hitters with two for two.

Short score: R. H. E.

Athletics 2 7 3

Eagles 1 3 2

Champion Bulldogs Reach Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's brand of summer weather has frayed the nerves of three arrivals from England. The disgruntled visitors are Champion British bulldogs with an aggregate price tag of $25,000.

Reg. P. Sparkes, well-known dog fancier who brought the dogs to Canada, said "it's the heat they don't like. Winter would suit them a lot better."

The dogs are Bashford Golden Nymph, Kamel Burhill, Bunty and Kamel White Knight.

Sparkes said they are not "refugees" but "have come without relationship to the war because we sorely need pedigreed, quality stock in Canada."

Vancouver Women Gain Last Round

Mainland bowlers emerged as finalists in the women's singles competition in Victoria's 12th annual lawn bowling tournament in play yesterday.

Mrs. V. Sluggett, C.P.R., Vancouver, advanced to the championship round by defeating Mrs. A. Stewart, North Vancouver, 15 to 5, while Mrs. W. Yates, Vancouver South, won the ticket into the final by virtue of a 15 to 10 triumph over Mrs. W. Bardsley, Terminal Club.

In the men's singles Ernie Myers of Burnside gained the final round after a hard-fought semi-final battle with a fellow Victorian, T. Smellie, Victoria Club, by a 15 to 13 score. The other semi-final match, bringing together J. Struthers, Grand View, and R. L. Williams, North Vancouver, will be decided later in the meet.

Men's and women's doubles play opened yesterday, with the men completing four of their six games and the women completing second-round play. Outstanding in men's play were four duos who scored four straight victories, including Williams and Sharpe, Terminal, section 4; Hindmarsh and Sneddon, Nanaimo, section 3; Cunningham and Fairley, Terminal, section 7; Goose and Boothman, Dunbar, section 6. There were more than 100 entries in the men's doubles.

Some fine exhibitions were also witnessed in the women's doubles, the battle between Mrs. Melville and Mrs. Wright, Victoria, and Mrs. Lang and Mrs. McQueen, Vancouver South, being closely contested.

Tonight the annual fight for the Kelly-Douglas Trophy between men bowlers will take place at Victoria and Burnside greens, while the women will participate in a similar contest at the Canadian Pacific and Victoria West greens for the Toimie Cup.

NOVELTY MATCH

A Red-Cross benefit match will be played tomorrow night. This is a novelty contest, in which rinks composed entirely of women, will be pitted against an equal number, composed of men. It will be played at Canadian Pacific greens. A. W. Stewart and A. McCallum are in charge of the draw.

FISHING AND OUTDOOR SPORT AT COWICHAN BAY

Few spots along the Vancouver Island highway are more attractive than far-famed Cowichan Bay, just seven miles south of Duncan and less than two hours' drive by car from Victoria. A land-locked bay, it is admirably situated in a gentle curve of shoreline. Across the blue waters the hills of Salt Spring Island rise to the sky, giving the whole scene much the appearance of a calm mountain lake. At the head of the bay, two rivers, Koksilah and Cowichan, empty into the sea. Beyond the river flats, Mount Tzouhalem, rich in Indian myth and legend, stands guard over the shore.

Cowichan Bay is famed for its fishing. Good catches are made all the year round, but from the middle of August, when the big salmon start to run, until the end of October, the district is really busy. Every resort and every camp along the shore is a gathering place for the "elect"—from far and near.

City Hall Briefs

BACK COLLECTION OF ALUMINUM HERE

Support of a proposal advanced by the Superfluties Store branch of the Red Cross for collection of aluminum to assist in airplane manufacture, was voiced by Mayor Andrew McGavin today.

The mayor voiced his co-operation for the plan whereby old aluminum kitchen utensils and other articles would be collected from the citizens. He suggested stickers might be attached to city water bills calling on the citizens to give their worn-out articles to the Red Cross officials and added that collections might be made through the medium of the city garbage service. Stickers attached to water bills would contact approximately 10,000 families in Victoria.

The Pacific Logging Congress which will bring approximately 400 lumbermen to Victoria on October 2, will be welcomed by Mayor McGavin at the Crystal Garden on that date. Acceptance of an invitation to speak to the visitors was announced by the mayor today.

A permit for $3,100 five-room single-family home at 334 Irving Road was issued by the city building inspector's department today to Mrs. M. Kendrew.

SERVICE ATTENDED BY LARGE CROWD

The affair was held under the auspices of the North Saanich Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The R.C.A.F. Band and the Victoria Boys' Band were present at the parade. The service was conducted by Rev. T. R. Lancaster, padre of the branch, assisted by Rev. Canon R. J. Pierce and Rev. D. M. Perley. The padre delivered the address.

Afternoon tea was served following the ceremony by the Women's Auxiliary in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Jones, Patricia Bay.

SCOTS' OUTING AT GOLDSTREAM

Members of the Victoria Burns Club, about 200 strong, had ideal weather for their annual picnic at Goldstream yesterday afternoon.

The picnicers left town in early afternoon by bus and car and remained at the flats until evening.

The afternoon was spent in a lengthy and lively program of sports and supper was served around 5. Picnickers enjoyed the lovely surrounding country of the flats on short hikes and tours of exploration following supper.

E. M. Whyte and W. B. Grant were in charge of the picnic, which was voted an outstanding success.

CITY TO IMPROVE BASEBALL PARK

The city parks committee will attempt to remove those braces which trip fielders patrolling the Athletic Park outfield near the north side fence, Alderman S. H. Okeil, chairman, stated today.

In an effort to eliminate the dangerous and unsightly braces now in use, the committee plans to use concrete pillars to support the fence posts.

At its meeting yesterday the committee decided to refer to the council a request from cricketers seeking permission to add a lean-to to the cricket pavilion in Beacon Hill Park.

The parks board also referred back to the mayor and city solicitor a claim from Fred Smith for injuries allegedly sustained when he was thrown from his bicycle while riding over a hose on Vining Street. The board admitted no liability.

Special Movies Now for Troops

The world's greatest movie stars are going to entertain Canadian troops stationed in Newfoundland. Not in person, of course, but in reels and reels of black and white and colored celluloid.

Capt. Ben W. Allen, director of entertainment for the Canadian Legion War Services, announced that a moving picture projector and equipment for sound have been shipped to the island and that Marshall D. Peters, the Legion's supervisor there, will institute a regular program of entertainment for the men.

Types of moving pictures to be presented will include the latest of available English and United States productions, comedies, "silly symphonies," news shorts and numerous official government films of an educational nature.

Moving picture entertainment, Capt. Allen states, "has been greatly in demand and warmly appreciated by the men under arms. The projector assigned to Newfoundland is one of many being used by the Legion in all military districts throughout Canada.

Y.M.C.A. HUTS COMPLETE

With the opening of the Y.M.C.A. hut at Valcartier, Quebec, by Brigadier Reynaud, the Y.M.C.A. building program for military camps in Canada as planned when the war services financial campaign was held in April has been completed. It is announced by Major J. W. Beaton, national secretary. The total cost of these buildings in Canada, in addition to the cost of establishing hostels, red triangle clubs and Y.M.C.A. military facilities in permanent buildings has exceeded $60,000, Major Beaton added.

The possibility of greatly extended activity as a result of national registration and the changed military situation was discussed by Major Beaton, who declared that the building of additional huts may be necessary as more thousands of young Canadians go into training. At the present time modern, specially designed huts are in operation at Macaulay Point in B.C., Camp Shilo, Man., Camp Borden, Camp Barrieffield and Petawawa, Ontario, and Valcartier, Quebec. Each hut can accommodate a battalion of men for a meal and is equipped with concert, movie or lecture halls, quiet rooms for reading and writing, and chapels for chaplains and headquarters established for athletic and sports programs of the various camps.

ORDERS IN ORDERS

Ivor Thomas, 2195 Beaver Street, passes on the story of a local defence volunteer in a lonely spot who cried "Halt!" to a man in a car, who promptly halted.

"Halt!" said the L.D.V. again. "I have halted," said the motorist. "What do you want me to do next?"

"I don't know," said the L.D.V. "My orders are to say 'Halt!' three times and then shoot."

Members to Visit Pender Island

JEW WINS M.C.

Capt. J. Reynolds, a Jewish officer in the field ambulance unit of the Royal Army Medical Corps, was awarded the Military Cross for bravery at Dunkerque, according to a dispatch from London by the Canadian Jewish Congress. In the words of the official war office citation:

"Throughout the whole operations Capt. Reynolds' example of coolness and self-control under fire was a great asset to the battalion. On the night of June 12, the enemy shelled the Mole of Dunkerque, on which were concentrations of British and French troops. Capt. Reynolds obtained carrying parties to move the wounded first to the beach and later to the ambulance. He altogether dealt with some two dozen wounded, and accompanied them to the advance dressing station, where he worked all through the day. By his prompt action he saved many lives and showed a complete disregard for his personal safety."

Capt. Reynolds was born in Auckland, New Zealand, where his father is president of a Jewish congregation and was an officer in the territorial army.

Tour Mill Here, See Water Needs

The Cameron Lumber Co. Ltd., crowded 20 per cent over usual capacity with the pressure of war business, today put its case for increased water pressure before Mayor Andrew McGavin and members of his City Council during an inspection by the city engineers of the Garbally Road plant.

In the course of the tour officials of the plant demonstrated the manner in which they were trying to reduce the smoke and cinder nuisance from their combustion plant through use of modern burners and boilers.

Stepped up from a 44 to a 50-hour week, the company is now producing approximately 5,250,000 feet of lumber in comparison to its usual 4,500,000 a month. In the plant itself 280 men are employed with a payroll of approximately $30,000 a month. Another 200 in two different camps are drawing an additional $32,000.

WOULD LOSE PAYROLL

"In the event of a fire I stand to lose little. We're covered by $1,000,000 insurance. But a big payroll would be lost to the city," he said.

He showed, through practical tests, the manner in which pressure was reduced when certain valves which would be called into operation in the event of fire, were opened. An increased main to provide adequate water was urgently necessary, he declared.

In the course of their tour the mayor and aldermen inspected the boiler room and power plant, sawmill, planer and storage sheds, piled high with lumber and made-up articles for British consumption.

Sales, Mr. Cameron stated, could be made privately only through special permits. Nothing, he added, was allowed to interfere with government war demands, which were piling in continuously and crowding plant output to capacity.

DISCUSS ISSUE

At the conclusion of tour the city representatives discussed with the mill officials an offer by the latter to contribute $4,500 towards costs of laying a new main. The matter would be given consideration at an early meeting of the water board, Alderman J. A. Worthington, chairman, stated.

Representing the city in addition to the mayor and Alderman Worthington today were Aldermen W. H. Davies, B. J. Gadsden and T. W. Hawkins, as well as City Engineer G. M. Irwin and Deputy Fire Chief J. Raymond. J. O. Cameron, D. O. Cameron, A. W. Millar, Dan Campbell and G. W. Writanen, chief engineer, spoke for the company.

DUNCAN FAVORS DISARMING ALIENS

DUNCAN — A resolution submitted by the City of Victoria in regard to the disarming of aliens was endorsed by the Duncan council Monday. A Station Street property owner asked action on several matters in connection with streets near his building. The streets committee reported the matter had already been taken in hand. A petition was received from property owners on Second Street, protesting against the sale of a residential lot to a Japanese. They were notified that the council regrets it has, at present, no power to prevent the sale of land to Orientals. The question, it was stated, will be taken up again through the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the Duncan Chamber of Commerce.

The streets committee recommended that the Public Works Department be asked to raise the side of Station Street in front of the Wragge Building, to prevent car bumpers hitting against the sidewalk.

Four resolutions are proposed for the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention, as follows:

That the Department of Justice be urged to deport Orientals convicted under the Opium and Narcotics Act immediately after their sentence on such charges.

That the Municipalities' Act be amended to provide for the assessment of municipalities as land for water mains laid by private companies.

Ask power for municipalities and councils to create, in advance, special funds to meet public works projects, in the same way that school boards can accumulate funds to meet extraordinary expenses.

That the Union of B.C. Municipalities be asked to take action through the Canadian Union of Municipalities to make it illegal

Jewish Hollywood Easy for 'Reds'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John L. Leach, former Los Angeles county organizer for the Communist party, told a grand jury that the party organized the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League as a rich source of funds from motion picture luminaries.

Leach, a principal witness in the Harry Bridges deportation hearing and before the Dies Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities, appeared before the county grand jury at start of investigation of a waterfront killing attributed by District Attorney Byron Pitts to Communist influences.

It was announced that grand jury subpoenas have been issued for Herbert Biberman, motion picture director and husband of the actress, Gale Sondergaard; Lionel Stander, comedian, and two score others.

"Because of Hitler's anti-Semitic program, the Communist Party conceived the idea of playing on the fears of the Jewish people and getting them into the Communist Party by selling them on the idea that the party, being an international organization, was the only agency in a position to effectively combat the influence of Hitlerism and afford protection to the Jews," Leach was declared to have told the grand jury.

Houde Still Member

QUEBEC (CP) — Attorney-General Girouard this afternoon said officers of his department were studying Quebec's laws in an effort to "clarify" the situation arising from the internment of Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal, who is also independent member of the Quebec legislature, for a Montreal, St. Mary.

"I don't believe Mr. Houde can be unseated as a member of the Legislature because of the recent turn of events," said Girouard.

Make Sacrifices To Save Freedom

"The power of totalitarian poison has reached my country. I have seen signs of it on every hand... and it is breaking down the American way. It is dreadful to contemplate, but I pray with my heart and soul that if we must surrender for a time those liberties we so dearly love it will only be for a short time in recognition of the fact that it is the only way we can save them," said Rabbi Henry J. Berkowitz, Portland, in a stirring luncheon address to the Rotary Club this afternoon.

Speaking on "The American Way," Rabbi Berkowitz told the clubmen that now, more than ever before, was the spirit of patriotism surging within the United States to the extent "it will raise the giant to strike down these forces against democracy and crush them so they will never rise again."

By the "American Way" he did not mean the United States way, but the way of the Americans.

"In your country and mine we have been able to go where we please, say what we please, preach what we please, write what we please and tell our senators and representatives just what we please. That's our way. But right now we are seeing the whittling away of this freedom... For the first time in my life when coming to your country I had to find my birth certificate. It is not your fault. It's not mine. But it is so diametrically opposed to what we know that it has aroused a deep resentment," he said.

"This new way says the state is above criticism. We cannot read as we please. Say what we please and write what we please. There is a danger now of the preciousness of the American way going to be somehow diluted," he said.

He was not referring to the term "American way" as an abstract phrase. Today there was too free usage of abstract terms and he preferred to deal in realities. By the American way he meant the way they permitted by freedom of civil liberties. He described it as a collection of habits, thoughts and actions so rudimentary that they were accepted as axiomatic—"an addition of habits as familiar as the clothes we wear or the air we breathe."

"We never think of them till the fundamentals of our life are challenged... When we can't point our fingers at the highest authorities and laugh at them and with them then we are losing something sacred which we love," he said.

He illustrated the "American way" with personal incidents which were proof that citizens of the Americas did not have to worry about officialdom as a huge ogre ready to descend with an iron hand to prevent freedom of speech, action and the press. It was important for United States to discover the meaning of the term because there was a tremendous upsurge of patriotism which was growing daily, spurred by the feeling that a great national crisis was near or had arrived.

This spirit was hard to rouse in U.S. because of its diffuse and diversified population which was governed so largely by city and state patriotism. But once this spirit was roused he foresaw it crushing every anti-democracy element which might creep into the country.

The speaker was introduced by P. B. Scurreah and thanked by Gerald Yardley, president.

U.S. CAR TRAVEL TO B.C. HIGHER

U.S. tourist car travel to British Columbia in the first six months of 1940 was up 9 per cent over 1939, the B.C. Government Travel Bureau announced today, releasing figures based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics returns.

At all customs ports in the province 65,385 U.S. cars were reported inward. This compared with 59,663 cars for the same period of last year.

Of the total 43,641 entered on 60-day permits and 21,744 on 48-hour permits, compared with 38,829 and 20,834 last year.

Travel showed increases for all months except May, which was down a few hundred cars. In June there was an increase of nearly 3,000 cars.

Due to border difficulties after July 1, it is believed the movement was down slightly in that month, although final figures have not been compiled. However, the seven months' total will show a slight increase over last year, it is estimated.

Major Gordon Smith, commissioner of the bureau, in commenting on the returns, said: "Although a considerable increase resulted in the motor travel from the United States the increase in the number of cars which arrived from other Canadian provinces was proportionately much greater. Figures for this travel cannot be obtained but the increase is obvious."

"We had a very good season," Mr. Shoemaker said. "We had a little rain but it didn't hamper us."

Several new pieces of camp equipment were added this season including a gas pump for the water supply.

Several new features in the camp program were also added. They included a series of overnight hikes, conducted by Ron McRae. The boys were taught wood lore and Indian craft and were given instruction in many other crafts and hobbies.

SALMON SALTING BANNED AGAIN

For the second year in succession British Columbia will not send any dry-salted salmon to Japan.

The fisheries department announced today the government has decided to continue its policy of refusing to license salmon dry-salters.

The policy was laid down last year as one means of keeping all the salmon possible for canning to supply Empire markets. Salmon dry-salters, ordinarily, are all operated by Japanese and the whole output goes to Japan.

Up to last year six or seven plants operated each season, packing enough to cover the amount of foreign exchange allowed by Japan to purchase the fish. It amounted to 100,000 yen, or about $30,000.

UPSET MAJOR BASEBALL

10-inning battle to the Chicago Cubs, who thus broke Paul Derringer's winning string at seven games.

SMOTHER GIANTS

The Brooklyn Dodgers made the most of this opportunity by overwhelming the New York Giants 8 to 4 in a night game that was intended to honor Mel Ott and drew a crowd of 53,997 to the Polo Grounds. For six innings the affair followed the pattern planned by the committee on arrangements, with Carl Hubbell leading masterfully and the Giants leading 3 to 1. Then Brooklyn blasted out five runs in the seventh and kept right on rolling.

The Boston Bees continued to plague the poor Phillies, taking a night game 6 to 3 with Eddie Miller and Carvel Rowell each hitting homers with a mate aboard.

The American League race remained unchanged. The pace-setting Detroit Tigers outlasted the St. Louis Browns to win 7 to 5.

The Cleveland Indians crushed the Chicago White Sox 9 to 3, with Lou Boudreau staging a one-man show. He hit two home runs and a single, batting in six scores.

New York's tottering Yankees divided a doubleheader at Boston, but it took a three-run rally in the ninth inning of the nightcap to end their five-game losing streak.

COAST LEAGUE

Seattle has lost a series, the first since the same challenging Acorns of Oakland took four games out of seven from the champs way back in early June.

Near-sighted Jack Salveson dazzled the league leaders last night with four-hit pitching to win a 4 to 0 shutout, the Oaks' second straight in the three-game split series.

The Acorns regained sole possession of second place, which for a day they shared with Los Angeles' ambitious Angels. The Angels fell a full game behind by dropping the first game of a doubleheader to San Diego, 8 to 4, and then fighting to a seven-inning scoreless tie in the nightcap.

Sacramento beat the San Francisco Seals, 4 to 1.

Hollywood made it two straight over the cellarite Portland Beavers.

SEALED TENDERS

addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Ordnance Building, H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C." will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Monday, August 19, 1940, for the construction of an Ordnance Building at H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C.

Plans and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, the District Resident Architect, Post Office Building, Victoria, B.C., the District Resident Architect, Vancouver, B.C., and the Superintendent, H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied by the department and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or to the order of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, undconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

Note—The Department through the Chief Architect's office, and the office of the Resident Architect at Victoria, B.C., will supply blue-prints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $25.00 in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of The Minister of Public Works. This deposit will be returned on the return of the blue-prints and specification of the work.

Tenders, if not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

By order, J. M. SOMERVILLE, Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, August 3, 1940.

'GIRL FRIDAY'

OAK BAY SHOW

With Cary Grant and Rosalind Russell in the maddest, merriest whirlwind of a romance ever brought to the screen, Columbia's "His Girl Friday" opens today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

A Howard Hawks' production, with Ralph Bellamy heading a splendid supporting cast, "His Girl Friday" rates all the encomiums in the lexicon of a critic. It's gay, it's delightful, it's fast and furious—it's wild and witty and outrageously racy. It sparkles, and it possesses as well, an undertone of tragedy which finds expression chiefly in the swift-paced action of the well-knit plot.

'HIDDEN POWER'

PLAZA DRAMA

Swift, and suspenseful, yet pervaded with human and realistic frailties, Columbia's "Hidden Power" opens at the Plaza Theatre today. Starring Jack Holt in a role totally different from anything he has ever attempted before, the drama depicts a timely and engrossing tale of a conscientious and humanitarian research chemist who stumbles upon the secret of a terrible explosive.

Rather than accept the responsibility for the deaths of innocent thousands, Holt refuses to yield the destructive secret to a group of munitions makers. The result is a colorful and highly entertaining series of events.

Gracie Fields is at the Plaza today as first feature. She is seen in one of her best pictures "Shipyard Sally."

'DR. KILDARE' ON

CADET SCREEN

The observation and deduction of a Sherlock Holmes and the psychological analysis of a Freud are among the most important things a director of a screen can develop. So declares Harold S. Bucquet, the director who pilots

Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore through the "Dr. Kildare" pictures, the latest of which, "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case," comes today to the Cadet Theatre. Bucquet himself applies detective principals to half the scenes he puts on the screen.

Spencers Beat

Combined Team

Not even the combined efforts of Five C's and Garrison cricket clubs are strong enough to beat Spencers it seems.

Yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill Park a Five C's-Garrison team went up against the smooth-tongued storemen's team and took a two-wicket beating.

Some good batting was seen on both sides. Colquhoun for the combined team batted 72 not out. Frank Tyrrell for Spencers had 45 and brother Norman for the same club carried his bat for 33.

Norman was top bowler of the game, taking four wickets for 12 runs.

U.S. Golfers Give

NEW YORK (AP)—So they took the $50,000—and gave it to the Red Cross, and today the golf pros were hanging up their "business as usual" signs with the knowledge that the United States Professional Golfers' Association Red Cross month was a smashing success.

Approximately $25,000 was raised through 25 charity matches under the auspices of the main office in co-operation with local organizations, and $25,000 more through district P.G.A. activities.

"The Man From Monterey," most recent in the Warner Bros. series of John Wayne westerns, roars it way into the Rio Theatre today. Wayne, who shot to fame in "Stagecoach" and "Allegany," is seen as a dashing young cavalry captain.

Sent to southern California to protect land owners during the wild years around 1848, the hero is faced by crooked caballeros, and an attempt to force the girl he loves into a loveless marriage.

After an hour packed with thrills and excitement, Wayne, with the help of his miracle horse, "Duke," solves all of these problems.

Ill Fortune Followed Later Stuarts

Yesterday we spoke of the strange story of the House of Stuart. While ruling Scotland during a period of 232 years, the monarchs met one piece of bad fortune after another.

Then the world seemed to smile on the House of Stuart. The son of Mary, Queen of Scots, became the ruler of both England and Scotland.

That change was quite peaceful. The death of Queen Elizabeth left no direct heir to the English throne. James, already the ruler of Scotland, was asked to come to London to be crowned.

Mary Queen of Scots, the mother of King James I.

The rather quiet and peaceful reign of King James did not mean a lasting change in the story of the House of Stuart. After his death, his son Charles took his place, and Charles went through trouble of an extreme kind.

At that time a new religion was growing up in England. The Puritans had started out to improve the Church of England, but in time they broke into revolt. Their leader, Oliver Cromwell, led his forces to victory on the battlefield. King Charles was captured and put to death.

The king's son, also named Charles, fled to France. Later he sailed to Scotland, and with an army of 10,000 Scots tried an invasion of England. The attempt failed, and Charles fled once more. This time he had narrow escapes from capture by the Puritans while obtaining a vessel to go to France.

After Cromwell died, Charles was asked to come back to England to rule as king. He accepted, and held the throne until his death 25 years later. In that period the Great Plague visited London, and much of the city was destroyed in the Great Fire.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 9

Adverse aspects are active today. It is not favorable for the signing of contracts or for an expansion of business. Women are well directed.

The stars encourage domestic pursuits today. Housewives should engage in preparing well-stocked cupboards for the coming winter. Fruits and vegetables should be preserved. Surplus possessions of every sort should be bestowed upon the unfortunate war victims. Thrift should be practiced; persistently as generous Red Cross contributions are made possible.

As the autumn draws near training of apprentices will be imperative in numerous trades. Machinists now will be in demand, also experts in certain branches of building.

The need for sacrifice in maintaining the ideals of democracy will be increasingly evident. Relief for war sufferers will engross attention and there will be generous contributions to the Red Cross and other relief agencies.

Canada will attract many British immigrants. She will also strengthen her ties with the United States. Because of the changes on the European chess-board at this time, the Dominion will become a haven for distinguished visitors. Naval movements will fix world attention as commerce is menaced from new angles.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of ups and downs. Alteration in the usual program of business and social life is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be genial in nature, generous and artistic. They may have talent for music.

One day's operation of a fleet of bombing and pursuit planes necessitates the consumption of an amount of motor fuel sufficient to operate 3,000 Canadian passenger cars for a full year.

It is claimed that 75 per cent of the investment in an average oil well goes for development, drilling and completion; 25 per cent for maintenance.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Fresh water, since they are formed on land, as glaciers, and break off as icebergs when they reach the sea.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Why will a woman use every trick of her sex to get a man to marry her and then in a year or two not seem to care whether he is around or not? Wouldn't most women be better satisfied if their husbands lived in another state and only came home every quarter, just so people would know they were married? What per cent of women really love their husbands? Don't most wives look down on their husbands? Why does a man put out a lot of money to build a home and then have to ask permission about everything he does in it? Ought not his opinions to prevail once in a while? Which is worse, for a woman to be a wife to a man whom she cares nothing for, or the mistress of the man whom she loves?

Answer: Page Solomon. Nobody really knows the answers to these questions which involve the whole problem of the relationship of husbands and wives. We can only surmise why they do it.

Undoubtedly wives get fed up on their husbands and a little temporary separation is good for both parties, but if you think wives would prefer part-time husbands, consider the row they make when John even stays downtown occasionally for dinner with a customer from Oshkosh. Most wives want their husbands to punch the home time clock every day.

The great majority of women really love their husbands, though a lot of them haven't much excuse for doing so. I think more wives love their husbands than husbands love their wives, because all the circumstances of a woman's life brings her closer to her husband and make him her only interest, while husband's business, his associations tend to alienate him from his wife. Also, women have more respect and admiration for their husbands than men have for their wives.

Why men let their wives dominate the home and crowd them out of all the best places is a conundrum that I give up, but I suppose the answer is peace at any price.

DOROTHY DIX.

Coast Launches Another War Vessel

H.M.C.S. Jasper slides gracefully into the water after launching ceremony.

Mrs. V. G. Brodeur holds the champagne in readiness. With her are G. A. McNicol and W. T. Moodie of the C.N.R.

Another of the corvettes to add to Canada's steadily expanding naval service entered the water at a West Coast Canadian port yesterday afternoon.

"I christen thee His Majesty's Canadian ship Jasper," spoke Mrs. V. G. Brodeur, wife of Commander Victor G. Brodeur, R.C.N., commander-in-chief of the Pacific Coast station of the Canadian navy, as she smacked a bottle of champagne against the side of the sleek grey-hulled craft, and history in this war's shipbuilding on the Pacific Coast was made.

Without a hitch the trim vessel slid down the ways to the accompaniment of sirens and whistles in the yards and cheers of a small but select company on the ceremonial stand, which Premier Pattullo led.

Heads of the three fighting services in the Canadian west witnessed the event—Commander Brodeur for the navy, Brigadier C. V. Stockwell for the army and Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey for the air force.

Although the launching was unannounced beforehand because of wartime restrictions and admission to the formalities was strictly limited, the general public in hundreds saw the ship slide into the sea from distant vantage points. They cheered with the officials who came to see the latest of Canada's fighting craft.

The Union Jack was draped over her bow, where she carried the blue pilot jack on the flag-staff. At the stern floated the navy's white ensign.

Hardly rippling the surface she took the water, then was towed back to an outfitting dock, where she will receive her upperworks and equipment.

BLESSINGS OF THE CHURCH
Blessings on the craft were invoked by the naval chaplains. Rev. Arthur Bischoffberger of the Anglican Church read the 107th Psalm beginning "They that go down to the sea in ships . . . which is specially dedicated for the launching of war vessels."

Rev. Father A. B. Wood read the Roman Catholic prayer for fighting vessels, praying for safe voyages and victory over her enemies. He blessed the ship with holy water.

Mrs. Brodeur, wearing a gardenia corsage presented by Mrs. C. J. V. Spratt, seized the champagne bottle suspended by red, white and blue ribbon. With a firm voice she pronounced its name.

Among the other invited guests were Premier and Mrs. T. D. Pattullo, Mayor and Mrs. Andrew McGavin, Mrs. C. V. Stockwell, Mrs. A. E. Godfrey, R. W.

Mayhew, M.P., and Mrs. Mayhew, Dr. J. D. Hunter, M.P.P., and Mrs. Hunter, W. T. Straith, M.P.P., and Mrs. Straith, Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, Commander and Mrs. W. B. L. Holmes, Commander and Mrs. C. D. Donald, Commander and Mrs. Porteous, Commander and Mrs. Brown, Surgeon-Commander and Mrs. David W. Johnston, Paymaster-Captain and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. C. F. Earle, Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the B.C. Police and Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. G. C. Jones, wife of Commodore G. C. Jones, R.C.N., Lieut.-Colonel A. D. Wilson, Kenneth C. Drury and Ben Hethey.

NAVY MEN CHEER
Navy men waved their caps as the cheers rang out. The sirens and whistles set up a shrill blast and the vessel was well and truly launched.

A busy little tug, whistle hooting, moved alongside and took aboard the line to tow her back to the dock.

Guests then adjourned to a nearby marquee for refreshments. Here the ship was toasted by R. P. Besant, construction superintendent.

"We are proud to be working together with the shipyards that are making this contribution to Canada's war effort," he said.

"We are also glad to know we are helping to build up Canada's shipbuilding industry."

"I think I can say there are no better ships being built than those under way here and I must remark on the way everybody is pulling together. In this I have special reference to our workmen and to the assistance given us by the naval department."

"We wish the best of luck to this ship and to the men who go to sea in her."

NEED MORE OF THEM
Commodore Brodeur, on behalf of the Minister of National Defence, brought greetings and thanks to the firm for the co-operation shown in speeding the work.

To the workmen he expressed appreciation of their craftsmanship.

"These ships are badly needed," he said, "and the faster you can turn them out the better it will be."

Then Mrs. Spratt proposed a toast to the sponsor and as the company gave three cheers she presented Mrs. Brodeur with a handsome silver cigarette box.

"I hope she will have lots of luck and fulfill in every way the duty to which she is assigned," said Mrs. Brodeur in expressing her thanks. "And the best of luck to the officers and men who will sail her on the seven seas."

Since the ship was named after a great Canadian National Railways resort, officials of the railway were present. They were headed by W. C. Moodie, superintendent for the division, with G. A. McNicol, general passenger agent for the province, and A. E. Godfrey, local passenger agent.

Victoria Swim Stars Victors

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Vancouver and Victoria stars were superior in medley relays in opening events of the 34th annual regatta here yesterday.

Two junior teams from Vancouver—Shirley Muir, Betty Evans and Kaz Manore, and Betty Esquigley, Betty Plantec and Audrey Aetzel—placed first and second, respectively, in the 150-yard medley relay for the British Columbia championship. They held a wide margin over a Kelowna team, turning in a time of 1:52.35.

Joan Langdon of Vancouver, the Dominion breast stroke champion and winner of the Wrigley senior and junior half-mile event last year, led another Vancouver team to victory in the women's open 150-yard medley relay for the provincial title.

Eighteen-year-old Alice Thompson, the "Lady of the Lake," and a group of Victoria aquatic stars, collected major honors during the day's lengthy sport card.

Alice outstroked stiff competition to win the open freestyle 100-yard and the one-mile event, and Stan Peden and Len Stark of Victoria led their fellow townsmen to several victories.

Peden won the men's open 50-yard's backstroke and Stark the men's 100-yard breast stroke. Victoria teams clicked in the men's medley relay, 150 yards, the men's open 300-yard medley relay and the junior boys' 150-yard medley relay.

The Victoria team which clicked in the men's 150-yard relay was made up of Stan Peden, Hugh Reston and Bob Johnston. Reston also swam with G. Lawrance and Len Stark to win the 300-yard provincial title event. The 150-yard winners repeated their victory over the same course in junior honors.
